Index to Record and Guide Vol. LXXIX.

For New York Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

NOS. 2025 to 2050 JANUARY—JUNE, INCLUSIVE. 1907

PREFACE.

The following is the semi-annual Index of Volume LXXIX of the Record and Guide, containing complete lists of the Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Buildings Projected in New York City during the first six months of 1907. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding, $2.50 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office, 11-15 East 24th st; price, one dollar.

THE KEY.

* Before any page No. indicates an Auction Sale.

† Before any page No. indicates a New Building projected.

Figures in parenthesis are leases.

Figures preceded by capital letters are mortgages, said capital letter indicating the first letter of the name of the mortgagor.

Figures without any signs whatsoever are Conveyances.

EXAMPLE.

1st st, from Av A to 1st av..(27), F 31, 458, *927, †1275.

On page *927 an auction sale will be found.

On page 458 a conveyance will be found.

On page F 31 a mortgage will be found.

On page (27) a lease will be found.

On page †1275 will be found plans for a new building.

AUCTION SALES.

The * appearing before any number indicates the page on which to find an Auction Sale.

CONVEYANCES

are distinguished by numbers without having signs attached thereto. In many instances there will be found streets, etc., indexed under pages which, on being examined, show at once that they are not in their proper order according to our customary alphabetical and numerical arrangement. A further examination will disclose the fact that while the properties appear more prominently under the other street descriptions, they nevertheless extend to the streets, etc., indicated by the Index, and having a frontage on same have been included in the paging, and it will necessitate a somewhat more thorough search than usual to locate it. The Leases, Mortgages, Auction Sales and Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner to the plan followed with the Conveyances.

LEASES.

The figures in parenthesis denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a short or long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

MORTGAGES.

All the mortgages are indexed against the street or avenue in which the property is located, and memoranda added to enable searchers to find the particulars in "The Record and Guide." See "Example." The streets and avenues are so subdivided that very few references are necessary. All readers of "The Record and Guide" are aware that the mortgages appear weekly in alphabetical order, so that they have, so to speak, a weekly index of mortgagors. This publication of an index against property completes the information which those interested may require.

PROJECTED BUILDINGS

are included under the same general heading, and are distinguished by the † which precedes the numbering.

Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

BOROUGH OF MANHATTAN STREETS.

NOTE.—Longitudinal streets, roads and places, such as the Bowery, Boulevard, Broadway, etc., which run parallel with the various avenues, will be found in alphabetical order amongst the avenues.

AN inverted stock market is what the Wall Street situation may be called at the New Year's opening compared with the beginning of 1906. The first business day of 1907 the rates for call money were one-quarter of the rates of the corresponding day the year before, and the business on the Stock Exchange was also just one-fourth in volume, Wednesday's total sales being less than 450,000, of which Reading contributed nearly one-third—truly a striking contrast to the transactions of January 2, 1906, which were 1,600,000 shares. On the second business section to the south of it, Hudson street and Eighth call money rates at 6 per cent. and business coming almost to a standstill. Is it any wonder that the Street is mystified and that people are refraining from speculation until they should have what they deem a rational and logical market? The stock market should advance, instead of which it declines. The conditions are the most bullish ever known, yet only bears make money. The National City Bank comes to the conclusion in its circular for January that money rates will be maintained, owing to repayments of temporary deposits to the Treasury and accumulation of surplus revenues. "Much depends," the bank states, "upon the financial plans of the Treasury regarding the retirement of the fours of 1907." This view cannot be said to be wholly encouraging. It may be pointed out, however, that general conditions now do not differ much from what they were a year ago. Constructive work is still being carried on enormously, and industrial and business affairs are at full tide, and in these respects there has been no change, except perhaps in the way of enlargement. Call money rates, while abnormally high for a considerable period, have not approached at any time the altitudes that were reached in December, 1905. On the other hand, not for many years have rates for time money been so high as recently. The question may be pertinently asked, are we or are we not suffering from prosperity? The answer is delphic, and may be given in the words of the National City Bank, which says: "How far the influence of government requirements during the next six months, all having the immediate effect of reducing the supply of money outside of the United States Treasury, may be modified by the inflow of funds from the country to reserve centers is a thing that can only be measured from day to day as the season advances." As to special stocks, there is but little to say. There are still true believers in Interborough, and New York Central looks as if it were going very much higher.

THE most important single movement now taking place in the real estate market continues to be the speculative buying in the district west of Sixth avenue between Fourteenth and Forty-second streets. During the past week important sales have taken place on Seventh, Eighth and Ninth avenues and in many of the side streets of this region, and it is evident that the preliminary steps are being taken which will result in the transformation of this area into a district devoted to different kinds of business. The current buying on the middle West Side is usually attributed to such special causes as the Pennsylvania Terminal and the proposed new subways, and these improvements will undoubtedly serve to make this region more available for business purposes; but behind these special causes lies the general fact that the district is gradually becoming the part of the city which can be most conveniently used to satisfy miscellaneous business needs. The future of this region will be governed by much the same conditions as those which have given character to the section west of Broadway farther south. Various kinds of business which cannot afford more central locations will occupy buildings on the middle West Side, and this will be all the more necessary because it will not be so easy in the future for business men to find relatively cheap sites in central situations farther north. Business will have to spread further east and west than it ha done south of Fourteenth street, and it will spread west rather than east, because locations on the West Side tend to be cheaper. Very few modern tenements have been erected in this region, and their cost has not been added to the price of property on the side streets. It must be added that the spread of business east and west will be facilitated by the fact that there are so many more direct cross-town streets north of Fourteenth street than there are south of Fourteenth street. The movement will, of course, be slow, and will probably come to a standstill for a while after the present current of business prosperity has run its course; but the fact remains that this whole region, by the mere force of its location, is constantly becoming more and more available for business improvement. The one thing that it lacks is a sufficient connection with the business day of this year the curious parallel continued, with avenue being the only thoroughfares between Broadway and the river. The property owners of the West Side should immediately organize for the purpose of securing wide extensions of both Sixth and Seventh avenues south of Fourteenth street. These extensions would not be expensive, because they would be run through comparatively cheap property, and they would be an immense benefit to the whole of the middle West Side.

Governor Hughes and Local Transit.

THE portion of the message of Governor Hughes in which the people of New York are most directly interested is that which deals with local transit conditions. The Governor points out that the whole business of the construction, the operation and the supervision of transit lines in this city is subject to conflicting jurisdiction on the part of the local authorities, and that consequently its regulation in the public interest is inefficiently managed. He proposes, consequently, to do away with the existing Rapid Transit Commission and substitute in its place a new body with larger powers and completer responsibilities. The new Board would possess entire control over the existing and the future means of communication throughout the whole of Greater New York. Its duties would include not merely the planning of new transit routes and the supervision of their construction, but it would also possess the function of watching over the operation of all existing lines, and the power of regulating them in the public interest. There can be no doubt that this plan looks in the direction of a more efficient and authoritative public control of the transit machinery of New York than any which can be exerted by the existing authorities, and our readers may remember that a scheme of this kind was proposed in the Record and Guide as long as four years ago. It is convenient and proper that one Commission should possess complete jurisdiction over every aspect of the transit situation, and it should also possess sufficient authority to compel obedience to its orders on the part of the transit companies. Such a body would become responsible to the people for the gradual improvement of the local means of communication by every available means, and its jurisdiction should be extended to the laying out of routes across all existing and future bridges, so that the present independence of the Bridge Department could no longer be used to keep the transit lines across the bridges disconnected from the transit system of the whole city. The plan is one which should and will commend itself to conservative public opinion, and it is very much to be hoped that during the current session of the Legislature it will be embodied in an acceptable statute.

There is, however, one important point in relation to the proposed legislation which the Governor's message leaves in a questionable condition. He asserts that the new body should be a State Commission, and he fails to make any recommendation as to its method of appointment. If he means by a State Commission a body which is to be either named by the Legislature and made self-perpetuating, or a body which is to be appointed by the Governor, the Record and Guide dissents absolutely from this conclusion. The commission will, of course, have important powers and responsibilities, which, like all municipal powers and responsibilities, can be obtained only by an act of the State Legislature; but these powers and responsibilities will be confined exclusively to the City of New York. It stands to reason, consequently, that the people of New York should, directly or indirectly, control the membership of that commission, just as they control all the officials who are concerned exclusively with local business. There is no more reason why Governor Hughes should appoint the members of a New York Rapid Transit Commission than that he should appoint the local Police Commissioner. If he named a commission which they did not like, or which proved to be inefficient, they would not possess the ability to make their disapprobation effective, because Mr. Hughes could be elected by means of the votes of rural Republicans. Neither should the commission, like the first Rapid Transit Commission, be named in the bill, and be made self-perpetuating. The Legislature explicitly abandoned this principle of choice when it gave the Mayor of New York City the power to appoint the Rapid Transit Commissioners; and the precedent established in this instance is the correct precedent. The new Rapid Transit Commission, like the other executive officials, should be appointed by the Mayor, and be subject to removal by him. This method of appointment would square with the provisions and the spirit of the charter of New York, which seeks to make the Mayor responsible for the efficient executive conduct of the city's affairs.

The point is one of the utmost importance, because an unwise constitution of the Rapid Transit Commission would establish an extremely bad precedent. The responsibility of the Mayor for the efficiency of the executive machine is one that is properly bestowed, and to impair it in any respect would introduce confusion and inconsistency into the municipal administrative system of New York. The friends of the principle of executive responsibility should use all their influence in favor of keeping executive appointments in the hands of the Mayor; and all their influence will be needed, because Mr. McClellan's enemies propose, if possible, to curtail his powers. Bills have already been introduced proposing the popular election of a commission possessing supervisory powers over all the local public utilities, and we have no doubt that the attempt will be made to apply a similar method of choice to the new Rapid Transit Commission. But the arguments in favor of the popular election of such a body, while specious, are wholly unsound. It is true that its members would in this way be made responsible to local public opinion; but the responsibility would be much more effectually felt, in case the commissioners were appointed by the Mayor and were subject to removal by him. In that case a commissioner would serve only on good behavior, and could not depend upon retaining office for a certain number of years, no matter whether he were a useful public servant or not. Moreover, the popular election of the commissioners would help to disorganize the whole existing administrative system by making that body independent of the other officials. Such independence would in the long run result most assuredly in inefficiency. It would tempt the commissioners to act like "star" performers, and to refuse to cooperate with the other departments. The only way to obtain executive efficiency is that which all private corporations use. Executive responsibility must be lodged in one man, who has the power to make his subordinates obey him, and who, in case of inefficiency or doubtful conduct, can be replaced. At the present time New York possesses a Mayor in whom intelligent public opinion has confidence, who is making an earnest effort to give the people of the city good government, and who has made powerful enemies just because he would not sacrifice the public interest to that of party politicians. To deprive him of any of his existing powers or to impair his complete executive responsibility would be equivalent to punishing him for his devotion to the public interest.

Landlord Has No Claim.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

According to the enclosed lease I have rented an apartment for one year. On the 20th of October, 1906, I wrote my landlord that my lease having expired the apartment was at his disposal, but as I did not like to lose my vote, I would like to stay until the day after election. I enclosed a check of $24.00, being the equivalent of rent from Oct. 20 until Nov. 7.

On Nov. 7 the landlord called and objected to the check being made out only for $24.00 and demanded a full month's rent, whereafter I mailed him the balance of $14.00. I vacated the premises on the 20th of November.

As there is no mention in my lease that I have to notify the landlord before the expiration of the lease, I would like to know if he can sue me for another year's rent, provided he does not rent the apartment.

Answer.—We do not think that the landlord has a cause of action against you.

Elements of Risk in Mortgage Loans.

Concluded.

By GEORGE A. HURD.

THERE is still a further element of depreciation which comes where there is a change of utility in the location. If a residence property has become suitable only for business, the value of the improvements disappears entirely; and the same is true of any such change of utility, subject of course to the possibility of saving a portion of the value of existing improvements through their reconstruction for a new purpose.

A fifth point to be considered is that of the accumulations pending and during foreclosure, including the period of redemption if there is one. The amount loaned on property, practically speaking, is not the face of the loan, but the amount of the debt with all its accumulations at the time of realizing on the property which has secured the debt. These accumulations are usually made up of delinquent interest, delinquent taxes (with penalties and a high rate of interest), delinquent street improvement taxes (with penalties), court costs, attorneys' fees, repairs after obtaining the property, and a real estate commission for selling which varies from 1 per cent. in New York up to 5 per cent. in smaller communities. In addition to these, there is the total or partial loss of interest from the time of commencing suit until the property is finally sold. In the aggregate these accumulations vary from 10 per cent. of the face of the loan to a maximum of 40 per cent. in cases of small loans where the laws are unfavorable to lenders. These variations in the amount of the accumulations attract attention to a comparison of the laws of the various States in regard to mortgage loans. One of the commonest provisions in Western States, and one which adds largely to the accumulation, is the provision of law granting to the mortgagor a period after judgment of foreclosure within which he may redeem the property by paying to the judgment creditor the amount of the judgment with interest. This provision seems to have come into existence in States where mortgage loans on agricultural property predominated, with a view to avoiding the serious effect on farmers of a single crop failure; and since such laws must be uniform in their operation they apply to loans on city property as well. This period of redemption varies from nine months in Nebraska and a year in most of the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States, to 18 months in Kansas and two years in Alabama. The effect of this law is to prevent outside parties from buying at foreclosure sales, since they cannot be sure that the property will not be redeemed by the mortgagor by payment of the judgment and interest, and also prevents a mortgagee during the period of redemption from improving property and obtaining larger rentals, for the same reason. Where, as in a few of the Middle Western States, such as Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa, the mortgagor remains in possession during the period of redemption, the accumulation is much greater, since during this period the mortgagee is entitled to no rental return at all; and a further action at law may become necessary to obtain possession. Other legal features which affect the amount of the accumulations are those which permit interest to be compounded; which permit penalty rates of interest, both on delinquent principal and interest, and large contractual attorneys' fees. Obviously the element of time is the principal one, and where a mortgage may be foreclosed and the property obtained in a short time the accumulations will be small. In this respect the laws prevailing in the Southern States are more favorable to lenders than those in any other part of the United States.

In Europe the advantage to lenders of being able to foreclose without delay is generally recognized, and the laws governing foreclosure have been in this respect carried so far that the Credit Foncier of France can obtain titles to properties under foreclosure in eight days after default, and the Banco Hipotecario of Spain in two days after default.

The sixth point to be considered is the loss of value through disposing of the property at forced sale, and through the injury to the reputation of the property caused by the foreclosure. Though properties seldom have to be bought by the mortgagee at foreclosure sales in Europe, it is still the common rule in the United States, largely owing to defects in our mortgage laws. As has been pointed out, the time necessary to obtain title or sell the property at foreclosure sale in Europe is generally very much less than it is anywhere in the United States, and is generally less in the Eastern and Southern States than in the Western. It is usually in the largest cities only, however, that there is any speculative market furnishing a demand for properties of all kinds at all times at a reduction in price from the normal value. Outside of New York City there is practically no auction market for real estate, except in New Orleans and Norfolk, Va., and in most, though not all, of the smaller cities properties are sold generally to those who intend to use them personally. The disposal of foreclosed property as promptly as possible in order to realize on it is the aim of most individual investors and should be the aim of all financial institutions, since real estate other than that needed for their own use is not a proper asset for them to hold, as is recognized by law. For the reasons I have mentioned, where a quick sale is desired a surprising difference will be found in different communities and on various classes of property, some cities having an active market which will absorb any good property offered at a price within perhaps 5% to 10% of its full value, while in other cities it is difficult to obtain within 25% of the full value obtainable under favorable circumstances.

It remains to suggest how these various elements of depreciation may be guarded against without demanding excessive margins on mortgage loans. Errors of judgment in appraising may be largely eliminated by trusting only to experts of approved ability and by concentrating responsibility upon them, testing and examining their work by its results. In the ordinary course of a mortgage business if loans are not properly margined the first sign of this will be an abnormal amount of delinquent interest, followed by an increasing number of foreclosures, before any actual loss occurs. These act as a warning that the business is not being properly conducted, as in times of ordinary prosperity there should be practically no foreclosures. The effects of a general depression may be partially avoided by anticipating the depression as far ahead as possible, and either making loans for less than the usual term of years or providing for a partial amortization through annual or semi-annual obligatory payments in reduction of the principal, so that only a small proportion of loans will be outstanding for their full amount when the panic comes. Special care should also be exercised not to rely on the selling prices of property during the period of inflation of values, which commonly precedes a depression. The effect of a general depression may also be minimized by skill in choosing the classes of property on which to loan, retail business property and single residences furnishing the most stable security during a depression, and in large cities multiple dwellings of the tenement type, followed by wholesale property, large office buildings, hotels, apartments, clubs, theatres and other special utilities in somewhat the order named.

Loss of value through changes in the structure of a city may be largely avoided by a study of the growth of cities and by care in choosing the locations in which to loan. Business property maintains its value best when on a main axis of traffic, and residence property when it is located in a large and homogeneous district of good social character, with good transportation facilities and an absence of neighboring nuisances. Depreciation through age, etc., should not be serious, if the cheaper classes of structures and those which from the nature of their occupancy will have the hardest usage are eliminated. Accumulations of delinquent interest, etc., can be reduced by bringing foreclosure suits promptly, and by avoiding those jurisdictions where the mortgage laws are exceptionally unfavorable. Finally, the difficulty of realizing fully on property at a forced or quick sale should always be borne in mind and allowed for, and property of a class that suffers unduly from this cause, such as suburban property or speculative holdings, should be avoided.

With these elements of depreciation in mind it would seem possible to lay down with some degree of precision the minimum amount of margin necessary in a given case to fully protect a mortgagee against loss.—From a lecture before the West Side Y. M. C. A., 318 West 57th st, Manhattan.

"Kingsway Square."

The Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association has very recently asked the attention of the Borough President to the improvement of the important junction of Broadway with St. Nicholas av at 168th st, and has prepared and submitted a plan, showing the public spaces provided for by recent acquisitions on the part of the city, and some suggested plots or refuges proposed as additions. The Committee on Appropriate Street Names has suggested the application of a special name to this space, in order to avoid the present conflicting names on opposite sides of the area (the west side being Broadway and east side St. Nicholas av), and has proposed a revival of the old name of the highway, which is now partly St. Nicholas av and north of 170th st is Broadway, in the title of "Kingsway Square." In order to elucidate other suggestions, and to show the appropriateness of the proposal, a historical narrative of the old Kingsway, from the pen of Reginald Pelham Bolton, of 527 5th av, the well-known consulting engineer, is presented in another column. (Our engravers have failed to complete a map in time for this publication.)

—President J. Homer Hildreth, of the Joint Rapid Transit Committee, has appointed the following committee to receive and formulate all complaints relating to poor service on elevated, subway and trolley roads in the Borough of the Bronx: J. Homer Hildreth, ex-officio; Julius H. Haas, Harry Robitzek, Olin J. Stephens and Captain Baxter. Any person having complaints against any of these public carriers will oblige the committee by sending the same to Julius H. Haas, Secretary of the Joint Rapid Transit Committee, 149th st and 3d av. Be careful that all complaints are specific, giving date, time and the exact nature of the complaint. If this is done the committee will soon have the complaints ready for the hearing to be held by the State Railroad Commission.

The King's Way.

By REGINALD PELHAM BOLTON.

THE recent repaving of Broadway and of St. Nicholas ave. in upper Manhattan has directed a stream of traffic over those well-traveled roads, of which, during the past years of desolation due to the construction of the subway and other improvements, they have been deprived. In upper Broadway and in the avenue we have presented to us the winding course of the earliest roadway from the little town which was the precursor of this mighty metropolis, and to which a large part of its growth was due, and some account of the traces of it which are yet visible, and of its connection with historical events, may prove appropriate and interesting. Along this old road have traveled the most important and interesting personages in our country's history, and its development has been and contributed to the sucessive evolution, from the primeval forest, of the Indian, Dutch, Colonial, Revolutionary and modern phases of civilization.

If one had stood, three hundred years ago, at the northerly end of Central Park, long after and still known as McGown's Pass, there would have been visible, stretching away from that point, a wide area of grassy marshlands across which wound two narrow trails of the red man, one nearly east (to the Harlem at 125th st), and the other nearly north by east to the forest-covered hills now known as Washington Heights. Of the former every trace has long since been lost, though for nearly two hundred and fifty years it extended through the old village of Harlem. But of the latter, the course is still to be followed in the windings of St. Nicholas avenue.

At the time of De La Montagne's arrival with his family and belongings, in a dug-out canoe, to make the first settlement in the Harlem Valley, he paddled up the creek that long bore his name to the point referred to, and landing, made his preparations for settlement (at Seventh ave 110th st and St. Nicholas ave) alongside of the trail, in the year 1636.

Other settlements followed and penetrated the forest northward as far as the extreme end of the island, finding that the trail lead to a "wading place" across which the aboriginies were accustomed to reach the mainland, a shallow place in Spuyten Duyvil Creek, a few rods east of the still existing King's Bridge. It was down this trail that the red men found their way in 1643 on their mission of murder and destruction, and it was not till 1658 that the settlement of New Harlem was effected as a means of combined protection for the settlers against the treacherous natives. The establishing of a ferry over the Harlem River, at 125th st, directed the traffic only in part to that crossing point, for it was found that the increasing number of wayfarers preferred to keep to the old trail and to ford the wading place rather than pay the charges of the ferryman. Fruitless efforts were made to block up the passage to the ford, travelers, cattle and Indians conspiring to break through the fencing, so that at last the ferryman himself petitioned for permission to remove his ferry to the point where the public demanded the convenience. It was an early and striking instance of the insistence of the public on traveling in its own manner, but it required a message from the Governor to stir the Harlem freeholders into action for the opening of the trail into a civilized roadway.

A resolution of these worthies, in 1667, in favor of building the road to Harlem from New York, and providing "that Spuyten Duyvil be stopped up, as it was formerly," was rescinded by the Governor in 1669, by which the people were at last moved to action, and commissioners were appointed that year to act for both towns. Like other commissioners of later times, these failed to effect their assigned work, and the road remained in so bad a condition that a resolution of the Mayor's Court of the City of New York, under date of Feb. 13, 1672, recites, that "many complaints have been lodged, yea, that people wishing lately to travel over that road on horseback have been in danger of losing their lives by the negligent keeping of the said road." The ferry had been removed to Spuyten Duyvil in 1669, and the road over the hills was used by an increasing number of "Christians, negroes and cattle," the Indians passing to and from their planting grounds and shelters around Inwood in canoes.

On Dec. 7, 1676, the inhabitants of Harlem met and resolved "to make the road between this village and Spuyten Duyvil, to begin on Saturday, the 9th of this month," and a lane was made from the village to connect with the highway, long thereafter known as the Harlem lane. In 1679 this city was visited by two sightseers, or globe trotters, quite the first of their since numerous kind, in the persons of two Labadist monks, who recorded in a brisk and gossipy style the impressions gained on their trip. As they reached the heights of Central Park and saw the vista of valley and wooded hills open before them, they write of the ridges of very high rocks, "displaying themselves very majestically and inviting all men to acknowledge in them the majesty, grandeur, power and glory of their creator." "Between them," they add, "runs the road to Spuyten Duyvil."

The division of the lands hitherto held in common, along Washington Heights, began in 1691 by allotments on that portion below Audubon Park, then known as Jochem Pieter's hills, and care was taken in the early ground-briefs to conserve the right of the King's Way. Thus in the Dyckman district, which should, by the way, with more appropriateness be described as the Nagel tract, the resolution ran, "to lay out a parcel of land at Spuyten Duyvil, between the high hills by the Round Meadow, on the other side of the swamp, so much as shall be found fit for tillage, ON CONDITION THAT THERE REMAIN A GOOD AND SUFFICIENT KING'S WAY WHERE SHALL BE FOUND BEST AND MOST CONVENIENT."

The road was now officially known as the King's Way, and is so referred to in deeds of lands through which it passed. The most southerly portion, of which we have here treated, is thus referred to in 1701: "There is set-off to Abraham de la Montague a piece of land lying west of the King's Way, bounded against the Harlem limits and a steep rock standing in the run, upon it four rods northerly a small maple tree of Metje (Widow) Cornelis; and southerly along the King's Way to a run where the King's Way passes over." And, "There is a set-off for Jan Dyckman and Jan Nagel, a piece of land upon the end of York Island north of the Round Meadow (Dyckman tract), and the Half Creek (Sherman Creek), commonly called Pieter Tuynier's (the Gardener's) Fall, to the little Sand Bay lying at the North River (Tubbyhook, Inwood);" "also a suitable King's Way shall remain over the said land."

In 1707 a survey of the road was made, and in some parts it was regulated. Its description north of Central Park runs as follows, showing the scanty habitations along its line at that date: "It runs along the lane to the next hollow, about north, from thence to Meyer's, northeast, and thence to the run by Barent Waldron's, north-northeast; from thence along the fence, and so by John Kiersen's house, on the right hand (that was about 165th st) and so along as the road now lies, leaving the run of water on the left hand (the brook from 181st st to 196th st) until you come to the deep bridge (196th st); from thence along the foot of the hill (Fort Tryon), which is to the left, about half a mile, then turning to the left and leaving the swamp (Sherman Creek) on the right hand, as the road now is unto Nagel and Dyckman's farm; from thence (that is, from about Academy st) leaving the fence on the west hand, through the ground of the said Nagel and Dyckman (that is, across the Dyckman tract, about 208th st to the Harlem River, the two farmers then owning the land in common), by the house where the said Dyckman doth now live (it stood at 210th st, on the Harlem River bank) and over his bridge (a little culvert over the creek at 211th st, that afterward divided his land from Nagel's, and is to-day being made into a sewer on the 211th st opening), and so forward as the road now is unto Kingsbridge." (Val. Man., 1862, pp. 517 to 519.) The road was then the Great Post road and Albany Post road, and later came to be known more locally as the King's Bridge road, a title which was temporarily changed in the reign of Queen Anne to the "Queen's road." 1711 to 1712.

The ferry had been replaced by the King's Bridge, which had been built in 1693 by the owner of the franchise, Frederick Philipse, of Yonkers, and soon increased the traffic, so that the public again began to kick at the charges imposed upon them, a movement which culminated in 1758 to 1759 in the building of the Free Bridge or Farmers' Bridge (known also in the Revolution as the Queen's Bridge), which was constructed by the local farmers on private lands, and may be still seen, connecting Marble Hill with Fordham; but is shortly to be swept away or covered by the newly created "Muscoota st." In 1769 the road reached sufficient importance to be marked out by milestones, and these were erected on the west side of the highway, setting off distances from the then City Hall in Wall st. The exact location of these stones has been the cause of some discussion, since the recollections of old inhabitants did not agree with the locations assigned to the stones in certain authoritative maps. The fact is that all the stones were shifted after 1817 to mark a re-survey of the road from the present City Hall. Of these stones several are still in existence on Washington Heights. Along the line of the road there began to spring up hostelries for the entertainment of travelers. A blacksmith named Day opened up a tavern about 1770 (at 126th st); and the celebrated Blue Bell commenced business prior to 1753 (at 181st st), at which time it was kept by one Vandewater. Jacobus Dyckman, about 1758, sold the tavern at McGown's Pass, which he had maintained for some time, and built a new house of entertainment at the foot of Marble Hill, opposite the Free Bridge, which, prior to the Revolution, he sold to Caleb Hyatt.

At 162d st the handsome residence of Colonel Roger Morris was erected in 1758 to 1759, and has continued to exist to this date, fortunately having now passed into the possession of the people of this city. The old road at this time and for long after was as crooked, irregular, steep and dangerous as it could well be, and that portion leading from the Harlem plain up to the Heights at 147th st bore the name of Breakneck Hill, which was applied to it officially as late as the city maps of 1871. The Revolution brought about stirring scenes along the old highway. The defense of New York in 1776 mainly centred on Washington Heights, and the road was its only practicable access for materials, guns and troops. At 147th st the line of defenses crossed the road, and a pitfall was cut in it, which, however, failed to stop the advent of General Percy's division, on Nov. 16, 1776, in the final assault of Mount Washington. Thereafter the road was constantly tramped over by bodies of troops passing to and from the forts and camps along the Heights and Inwood to the city. Near the line of 192d st, the great fortifications, known as the Line Barrier, of the British and Hessian garrison, crossed the highway, and the Barrier gate at that point was guarded by redoubts on either side. Traces of that on the east side were dug out by the writer, yielding a number of weapons and other evidences of military life.

The then character of the road was described as follows: "The road between Laurel Hill (Fort George hill) and the heights on the Fort Kuyphausen (Fort Washington) side is so narrow that it is shut up with a gate where a guard is kept." Until recent years, the remains of the stone abutments of the Barrier existed, and, on the widening of the road, were utilized, I have been told by one who worked there, in constructing the culvert under Broadway at 195th st. Just before the end of the Revolution a royal visitor, the young Prince William, afterward William the Fourth of England, rode up the highway accompanied by a large body of troops on a grand parade into the hostile country of Westchester. The final scene in the Revolution was enacted on the Old Post road, when the small force delegated to take possession of New York made its way over the King's Bridge, and at the top of the hill (at 181st st) was reviewed by General Washington and his aides. In 1790 the General, then President, revisited the site of Fort Washington; and took a meal in the Morris house. The war had ruined the business of the taverns along the road, but with the revival of traffic others opened, among them the Post Inn at 178th st, traces of which were recently discovered. Another "Black Horse" Inn was started at Dyckman st, and the Dyckman family, whose homes (near 208th st and 10th av and 210th st and the Harlem River) had been destroyed during the war, built the present picturesque building at Hawthorne st, on the west side of the road, which had been at this part diverted to its present lines about 1782, the old detour to the east over the meadows being abandoned. Thus the old road remained after the vicissitudes of the past, a reminder of the red man's trail, the Dutch settlers' horse track, the Colonial Post road, and the military line of communication, until its metamorphosis into a modern avenue. Only that part of it north of 169th st now bears the name of Broadway, and to the old residents, fast being crowded out, it remains the Kingsbridge road of their childhood. As one climbs the long ascent to the beautiful and historic Heights, and notes the bends and turns of the present avenue on the very lines of the old trail, passing the interesting sites of bygone life, observing the occasional glimpses of the Hudson and Harlem, catching the grand vista from Mount Washington over the Dyckman farm lands and the distant hills of Westchester, the varied interests of the old Highway bring to mind these lilting lines:

"A wood road and a good road,
And a road by land and sea;
A high road, and a by-road,
And a road by plain and lea:
A fair road and a bare road,
And a road by vale and hill;
A deep road and a steep road,
And a foot road sweet and still:
A town road and a down road,
And the King's road broad and free,
There's but one road in all the world,
The Way that leads to Thee!"

Brooklyn Building Record for 1906.

Superintendent Moore, of the Brooklyn Bureau of Buildings, has issued his report of operations of his department during the year just ended. In most instances it shows an unprecedented increase of building operations. The year 1905 holds the banner in permits issued, but 1906 beats that, because most of the buildings for which permits were secured in 1905 were completed in 1906. During the year there were completed in Brooklyn Borough 7,067 buildings, at an estimated cost of $47,950,276, and provisions were made in these buildings for 21,794 families, or a total of 108,970 persons (averaging five persons to a family).

Plans and specifications for new buildings filed and acted upon during the year called for an expenditure of $65,066,325. Plans filed for alterations called for an estimated expenditure of $5,391,610.

Building activity was especially brisk in the Eighth, Seventeenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Wards.

Richmond's Building Report.

John Seaton, Superintendent of Buildings for Richmond Borough, has made public his report for the year ending Dec. 31, which shows the increase in new buildings for 1906 to be 340 and the total cost of plans filed $2,223,218.

Commenting on his report Mr. Seaton said yesterday:

"The greatest number of buildings are included in the two items which are best suited to make a community prosperous—namely, manufactories or workshops and dwellings.

"The prospects for 1907 in the building line are very bright. The advent into this borough of speculative builders, the men who built up the boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens, is now an assured fact. Large tracts of land are being purchased in the interior of the island for the purpose of erecting houses and selling them on the instalment plan.

"Some of the localities in which building operations are contemplated on a large scale in the near future are Bull's Head, fifty houses, plans for some of which are on file; Great Kills, thirty-six houses by a well-known Bronx builder; Whitlock, 100 houses, by the Meredival Realty Co., of Manhattan, plans for some of which are on file. A large number of houses are also contemplated in and around Mariners' Harbor, Richmond, Grant City, Dongan Hills and Tottenville, showing that the boom is not confined to any particular locality."

For the week just ending plans for almost $60,000 in new buildings and alterations were filed, showing that the figures are holding up well during the winter months.

Queens Building Total $18,000,000.

From the records of the Building Bureau of Queens County the value of the new building operations undertaken during the year approximates $18,000,000. During the first six months of the year the value of the buildings for which plans were approved was given at $9,600,000. This was an increase of $1,400,000 over the same period of the previous year. The number of new structures of all kinds was 4,277.

Particulars of the Old Custom House Improvement.

WALL ST.—The Record and Guide was informed on Wednesday that plans for the improvement of the old Custom House building, at Wall, Hanover, William sts and Exchange pl, now owned by the National City Bank, are still indefinite. Two sets of plans have been prepared by Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, one for alterations, and another set for an entirely new building, to cover the entire plot. If the new structure is erected it will be from 18 to 20 stories high and 180x220 ft. in size. The National City Bank now expects to obtain possession of the building in a little over six months, and it is quite probable that for the present only necessary alterations, such as are required to render the building tenantable, will be made. One indication for this is the recent fact of the letting of contracts for new vaults to the Carnegie Steel Company, of 71 Broadway. James Stillman, 52 Wall st, is president of the bank. (See also issues of Nov. 4, 1905, and Dec. 9, 1905.)

Post & McCord's Large Contract.

MADISON AV.—Messrs. Post & McCord, No. 24 East 23d st, have received the contract to erect the structural steel work for the new Metropolitan Tower, to be erected at Madison av and 24th st, the southeast corner. The American Bridge Co., 42 Broadway, will furnish the steel, and the V. J. Hedden & Sons Co., 1 Madison av, have the general contract. The total height will be 657.5 ft. above the curb level, and will comprise 46-stys, five more than the Singer Building tower. The Metropolitan tower will be a part of an 11-sty annex to the main building, extending 150 ft. on 24th st. The main part of the tower will be 74 ft. square, and will be fitted with six passenger elevators, three on either side of the entrance. Napoleon Le Brun & Sons are the architects. The Record and Guide announced particulars of height in issue of June 9, 1906.

Plans for a Public Bath.

CHERRY ST.—A new public bath will soon be erected by the city at the northeast corner of Cherry and Oliver sts, to cost about $125,000. The structure will be 3-stys, having a frontage of 50 ft. and a depth of 100 ft., with a pilaster facade of brick enameled in French gray and trimmed with limestone and terra cotta. There will be two floors of baths for men and women, fitted with rooms of individual shower and tub baths. The third story will be equipped with a gymnasium, and there will be a roof garden. No building contracts have yet been issued.

A Jewish Hospital for the East Side.

2D ST.—The Federation of Galician and Bucovinean Jews in America, of which Reuben Auerbach, 126 Essex st, is president, will soon take title to the two 4-sty brick dwellings 138-140 2d st, which will be renovated and equipped throughout, to be known as the Mount Merijah Hospital. More than thirty beds, including a dispensary, are to be maintained, and the institution will be free to all races and creeds. The Record and Guide is informed that no architect has yet been commissioned, or building contracts let.

Erie Railroad Improvements.

The Erie Railroad Co. will have four tracks through its open cut through Bergen Hill, and contractors are pledged to have the work finished by July 8, 1908. This work is to cost $2,000,000, while $8,000,000 has been appropriated for the company's new Jersey City terminal. In ordinary times such an appropriation would have been astonishing, but these are extraordinary times, especially where railroads entering Manhattan are concerned.

Improvement for St. Nicholas Avenue Corner.

Elias A. Cohen, 171 Broadway, will soon begin the erection of a high-class apartment house to cover a plot, 139.8x52.5 ft., on the north side of 114th st, from St. Nicholas to 7th avs, to cost in the neighborhood of $300,000. Geo. Fred Pelham, 503 5th av, is preparing the plans. There will be apartments for thirty-six families, of four families on a floor. No sub-contracts have yet been awarded.

A Denver Project.

T. G. Bonfils, owner of the Denver, Col., Post, announced this week that he would build a fireproof office building at the southeast corner of 10th and Walnut sts, in that city, which would be at least 20-stys high. No architect yet selected.

52D ST.—The 2-sty store and loft building No. 604 West 52d st will be increased in height with two additional stories for the estate of D. F. Deike and J. H. Maatz, 1417 Prospect av, Bronx. Plans have been prepared by Arthur Arctander, 523 Bergen av, and Messrs. Geilhard & Gallagher, 67 West 125th st, have obtained the building contract. BUILDING NOTES

Cement quotations have dropped another notch. But lumber continues on the skyline.

The American Tracing Cloth Co., 11 Broadway, Manhattan, has completed a plant at Paterson, N. J., for the manufacture of tracing cloth.

The total estimated cost of new buildings and alterations filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings for the month of December, 1906, amounted to a total of $3,243,249.

George Wallace Bostwick, treasurer of the Alberene Stone Co., of 393 Pearl st, died Thursday, Jan. 3, at his home in Montclair, N. J., of pneumonia after a week's illness.

Messrs. Carrere & Hastings, architects, No. 28 East 41st st, have taken a long lease of the southerly half of the top floor of the Brunswick Building, at 5th av and 26th st.

Cassatt dead and buried. Death claimed a shining mark in his case. Why are not great leaders permitted to see their works finished? So many times, like Moses, they only get a look-in.

Poor building weather thus far this winter, with New Year's Day a bright exception. Mostly rainy days have followed with intensely cold ones. Outdoor work has been consequently pretty well broken up.

Quotations on common brick continue at the low level of the past few months, and with the heavy supplies and comparatively small requirement there is not likely to be soon any advance calling for any uneasiness on the part of builders.

The Herald notes that new precedents have been established in the laying of the high pressure water mains, which have resulted in the restoration of displaced pavements within a few days. Formerly streets were left broken by hollows and gullies for months.

Mr. William P. Corbett, secretary and general manager of sales for the Alsen Portland Cement Works, 45 Broadway, is of the opinion that there will be no further recession in prices during the winter for the American Portland cement market, judging from the present indications, as the demand for next year looks very good indeed, and stocks are not very large.

The Penn-American plate glass manufacturers of Novus sanitary structural glass, Pittsburgh, Pa., Michael Cohen, representative, St. James Building, New York, has obtained the contract to furnish Novus glass for all the wainscoting, cap and base of the bathrooms for the apartment northwest corner 61st st and Park av, Wm. A. Boring, architect, Herman Probst, general contractor.

Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. Opens a New York City Office.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., the well-known manufacturer of high-grade impervious pressed brick, Pittsburgh, Pa., has opened offices, St. James Building, 1133 Broadway, under the sales management of C. J. Henderson. Other offices in the leading cities will be opened in the future, thus abolishing the old policy of having local manufacturing agents as heretofore. The Harbison-Walker Co.'s bricks are well known in Manhattan, as they have been used in several well-known New York buildings and are being used in the construction of several others now under way. The brick is manufactured in all colors, from lightest gray to darkest brown, in standard, Pompeian and Norman sizes. The standard size impervious gray bricks, manufactured in five shades, are giving excellent satisfaction, and large quantities are being shipped into eastern, central and western markets. The capacity of the factory at Pittsburgh is so efficient that the company can accept and fill orders promptly. Among the well-known buildings in Manhattan in which Harbison-Walker brick is or is under construction are the West Street Building, Trust Company of America Building and Rogers, Peet & Co. Building, 34th st and Broadway.

Time for the Governor to Act.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

That Supt. Hedley, of the Subway, intends to retaliate upon the residents of Washington Heights by delaying the subway express service on the middle track, between 96th and 137th sts, which he was ordered to give by the mayor some time ago, pursuant to the request and demand of the taxpayers of Washington Heights, is evidenced by the many vexatious delays in the rush hours. The Interborough Rapid Transit officials should be reminded that the construction of this road was sanctioned by a vote of the citizens of New York, the city paying for it out of the money collected from the taxpayers of this borough and the Bronx. It is high time that the people should again exercise their right of suffrage and demand the removal of those officers who are antagonistic toward the people's rights. If Mr. Belmont is unwilling to compel his men to give fair service to the public, the people, who really own the road, should appeal to higher authority for proper legislation to enable them to place the road in competent hands, who would try to serve and please the public. REAL ESTATE NOTES

Penn's scheme to widen West 32d st looks good.

Purse strings are getting looser among the lenders.

Echo answered hardly anything when Mr. Phelps-Stokes shouted.

The real estate outlook for the near future in the Bronx is very good.

A mortgage for a hundred million dollars. How easy it is said in these times. And all in the ordinary course of business in the American metropolis.

You need not illuminate the number of your house. The mayor has vetoed that ordinance. But street numbers should be displayed plainly in every case.

The Bronx Savings Bank, 177th st, near Washington av, has declared a semi-annual dividend at the rate of 4 per cent. on all sums from $5 to $3,000 entitled thereto, payable Jan. 7.

The New York Life Insurance and Trust Co. loaned $1,000,000 at four per cent. to the Hamburg-American Line on the Aldrich Court, 41 to 45 Broadway. The mortgage becomes due Nov. 1, 1911.

Mr. David Stewart, who has an office on Amsterdam av near 155th st, said he had a number of good deals under way and regarded the outlook as very encouraging. He added that prices were very firm.

A certain real estate broker did a business of seventeen million dollars in 1906, and expects to clean up commissions totaling $175,000. Another brokerage firm did a business of fourteen million dollars.

Cuozzo & Gagliano Co., real estate and insurance brokers, have removed their offices to the World Building, Suite 5. This company has added to its business banking, and a steamship and railroad ticket department.

Geo. L. Eckerson, formerly with L. J. Phillips & Co., has opened an office in the Times Building, Broadway and 42d st, to transact a general real estate business. Mr. Eckerson has also been appointed agent for the Times Building.

Mr. Albert B. Ashforth, 4 West 33d st, Manhattan, in commenting on the activity in the realty market during 1906, incidentally mentioned the fact that the volume of business transacted through his office during the past year was unprecedented.

M. Lindeheim & Co. were the brokers on Washington Heights, in the sale of the vacant block bounded by Broadway, Wadsworth av, 181st and 182d sts for $300,000. The same brokers sold 181 acres on Long Island to investors for cash for $633,500.

R. I. Brown's Sons were the brokers in the sale of the four 2-sty frame dwellings, 75x88, situate at 524, 526, 528, 530 East 164th st, and also in the sale of the two 2-sty and attic frame dwellings, 44x90, situate at 548 and 550 East 164th st, sold by Richard H. Moran to Philip Wattenberg.

Collector Moynihan is of the opinion that all the crooked work in the Bronx office of the Bureau of Assessments and Arrears is uncovered. In the aggregate it was not very serious, but in principle it was contemptible. The city pays its clerks good money and treats them well, and ought to have loyal and honest service.

Claims against the city for damages to property because of sewer overflow and bursting water mains have dropped to a merely nominal number. In 1905 there were 6,759 claims for payments, amounting to $3,010,828. In 1906 there were 234, calling for $149,895, and most of these were filed before the Mayor, with the co-operation of the Comptroller, began to prosecute cases of fraud.

The members of the Morris Heights Taxpayers' Association have opened a campaign and invited the cooperation of other organizations to join them in their efforts to obtain better transit facilities. While many of the property owners would much prefer to see the construction of a subway route on Jerome av, they are willing to content themselves with an elevated structure rather than have no road at all.

Mr. W. H. Folsom, 24 East 23d st, Manhattan, is of the opinion that the rate of interest on mortgages will be lowered some time during the present year, and believes that the effect of this will be to stimulate the buying of real estate to a marked degree. Mr. Folsom takes an optimistic view of the realty market, and looks for a continuation of activity, especially in the centrally located districts.

Mrs. Sage has made two more loans on Manhattan real estate. One is to the Park Row Realty Co. of $2,500,000, covering No. 3 Park row, a new 8-sty office building, as well as the big Park Row Building (Nos. 13 to 21). The other loan is $350,000 to the Thirty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue Realty Co. covering premises, 31.10x105, on the east side of 5th av, 65 ft. south of 44th st, improved with a 6-sty office building.

Mr. Jas. Fox, of Fredk. Fox & Co., Broadway and 34th st, Manhattan, says there is a growing demand for property west of 7th av, and that present indications point to an active market during the coming spring for real estate in that vicinity. Referring to 34th st, between 5th and 6th avs, Mr. Fox is of the opinion that there will be a better demand for lofts in that block as soon as the Marbridge Building is completed.

Mr. D. Lippman, of D. & H. Lippman, operators, 198 Broadway, Manhattan, in speaking of the volume of successful trading which has characterized the realty market during the past year, said he believed that a continuance of notable activity is to be counted on during 1907, more especially owing to the many gigantic undertakings which are certain to exert an important influence on Manhattan real estate. "Speaking for ourselves," said Mr. Lippman, "we have enjoyed a prosperous season, and out of a total of three recent purchases we have already sold two."

The Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association at a meeting held last Friday took up the matter of the overhead trolley to be constructed from 190th st via St. Nicholas av to Dyckman st station of the subway. Resolutions were framed and the secretary was directed by the association to sign and forward them to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment recommending the adoption of the plan forthwith. Mr. David Stewart added that a written guarantee had been given by the Interborough Company to transfer its passengers to and from these lines on a single five-cent fare.

Mr. J. J. Schwartz, president of the Sterling Realty Co., 203 Broadway, Manhattan, remarked:

"In my judgment the outlook for realty trading on Washington Heights was never better. Property of all kinds is held in strong hands, and while few buildings have been commenced for some time, there is every indication that builders intend resuming operations at an early date. Flats are filling up rapidly and the public is beginning to realize that Washington Heights is a particularly desirable section in which to reside." Mr. Schwartz is further of the opinion that money lenders will shortly be in the market to loan on building operations to a greater extent than during the past year. "Washington Heights," he added, "is nearer Wall st today than 59th st was 25 years ago."

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company is now offering to the public, through the medium of the New York Investors' Corporation, which has been organized for that purpose, mortgage certificates in $1,000 denomination. They are secured by first mortgages on New York City real estate, with payment guaranteed by the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company. They run from five to ten years, are free of tax and net the investor 4½ per cent. They sell at par and, like mortgages, remain so, neither going up nor down. They are surrounded by all the care that the Title Guarantee and Trust Company and the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company use in protecting mortgage investments, and put at the disposal of the public a high class and convenient investment.

This is the era of big figures. The Hudson & Manhattan R. R. Co., under date of Dec. 29, gave to Standard Trust Co., trustee, a mortgage of one hundred million dollars to secure bonds of the Hudson & Manhattan R. R. Co., covering the terminal property at Church, Fulton and Cortlandt sts; also the tunnels and railroads constructed or to be constructed forming a line running from the terminal between 6th and 7th avs, 32d and 33d sts, Manhattan, under 6th av to Christopher st and under Christopher st to Greenwich and Morton sts, and under the Hudson River to a point in Jersey City near foot of 15th st (extended); thence under Hudson River and under Cortlandt, Dey and Fulton sts to terminal at Church st, Manhattan; also all branches and extensions and all real estate, rights-of-way, etc., due Feb. 1, 1957, at 4½ per cent.

Warren Street Realty Attracting Attention.

Real estate brokers who make a specialty of downtown realty say that trading in Warren st property is likely to be one of the features of the spring market, and point to the increased demand for stores and lofts in that thoroughfare as an evidence of the growing preference shown by hardware manufacturers and allied lines of business for space in that locality. This tendency toward concentration on the part of the hardware interests is said to be exerting a beneficial influence on the value of property in the street mentioned, and is the subject of favorable comment by speculators in lower Manhattan real estate.

There are other and more important factors, however, that tend to enhance values not only in Warren st, but throughout the entire section adjacent thereto, chief among them being the New York and New Jersey tunnel terminal at Cortlandt, Church and Dey sts, to which is largely attributed the recent activity in downtown realty. Then, too, the lack of available building sites caused by the construction of so many modern mercantile and office buildings is creating a demand for property to the northward, forcing the speculator to turn his attention to investments in that direction. Some brokers are of the opinion that the time has arrived when old buildings in such streets as Park pl, Murray and Warren, can be bought, altered and disposed of at good profits, and judging by the prevailing opinion many transactions of this nature will take place during the present year. In anticipation of what must inevitably happen, owners of old buildings in the streets mentioned are asking greatly increased figures for their holdings, and it may be said with no small degree of certainty that their opportunities for securing better prices will increase in proportion to the decrease in the number of available sites for improvement. It has been pointed out that much of the ownership in Warren st property is vested in estates and church corporations, who rarely sell, among them being the Dean Hoffman estate, the estate of Chas. A. Baudouine, and Trinity, Grace and St. Peter's Episcopal churches, besides many well known individuals. While this fact appears to be the only impediment in the way of a quick transformation of the buildings in this street, it is not believed that it will deter trading in other parcels equally as desirable.

Real Estate Exchange Organized at Jamaica.

A temporary organization of a real estate exchange was effected at Jamaica last Saturday. The meeting was held in the rooms of the United States Title Co., in Jamaica, and 60 men doing a real estate business in Jamaica responded to the invitation of the committee.

The prominence of Flushing men in the development of Queens Borough was attested to by the election of Flushing men to the two important offices, County Clerk D. L. Van Nostrand, of Van Nostrand & Van Allen, president; and Joseph M. Gray, of the firm of Gray Bros., secretary. The other officers were: F. W. Scutt, vice-president; Alfred J. Eno, 2d vice-president; and Herbert K. O'Brien, treasurer. A Board of Governors, to consist of ten men to serve one year, was elected, as follows: Theo. F. Archer, James A. Gray, Jr., Ernestus Gulick, Moe Loeb, Rawdon W. Kellog, Joel Fowler, P. K. Meynem, A. C. Hankin, B. H. Sweet and Geo. T. Watts; the officers are also members of the board.

The object of the exchange will be to promote the welfare and to advertise the advantages of Queens. It intends to pay especial attention to the transit facilities and see that they never reach the disgraceful condition of Brooklyn.

The highways will be looked after as well as the rivers and harbors in Queens, which have so far been neglected, but present a great opportunity for development if taken hold of at the right time.

It intends also to look into the matter of dealers selling lots that have been laid out without regard to the topographical map. The bureau is to be asked to hurry the preparation of the map. Another needed improvement which they favor is the appointment of a Park Commissioner for Queens alone, as the members are heartily tired of Queens being run as a side-show to Brooklyn.

Protection of the investor from the unscrupulous dealer, also the protection of the dealer from the unscrupulous people who attempt to defraud them of well-earned commissions.

After incorporation the exchange intends to take up plans for the erection of a building, which will have a large auction room on the main floor and offices above for the convenience of members.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

The most desirable class of tenants are those who can afford to pay a good rent. They usually wont unless the store has all the modern improvements. If it hasn't Luxfer Prisms it is not up-to-date. Make your property more valuable by increasing the amount of real daylight into it. Let us explain matters to you either by mail or personally.

METAL CEILING ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK.—E. P. Hoyt, Pres., First and Washington Sts., Jersey City; John W. Yohe, Secy.-Treas., 525 W. 23d St.

ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS OF METAL-COVERED DOORS AND WINDOWS.—C. G. Norman, Pres., 412 East 125th St.; J. F. Blanchard, Secy., 819 Fuller Building; M. F. Westergren, 483 East 144th St. Meets on call.

The Apprentice.

A Camden (N. J.) roofer remarked at a recent meeting of that local, "If we laid as much tin roofing proportionately with the increase in building as we did eighteen years ago, where would we get the men to do it?" A very pertinent question.

This brings up the matter of a future supply of mechanics, and with it, the apprentice boy. Everywhere the pinch is felt for a sufficient number of good mechanics to promptly execute the work. Between the labor unions limiting the number of apprentices, and the past indifference of the employer as to whether he had any apprentices or not, the number of mechanics is not increasing in anything like the same proportion as the demand for sheet metal work. Many cities and towns have not a single apprentice learning the sheet metal trade. In two conventions the National Association called attention to this condition of affairs, with the result that many employers are adopting the plan recommended by the association.

The Canton Metal Ceiling Co., West 23d St., is furnishing its office and installing new partitions in such a way so that the private offices will be located in the rear and the general offices in the front. The manager reports new business a little dull although the alterations are keeping them fairly busy.

EXTREMELY difficult it is to write about the stock market this week. It is a tangle of contradictions anomalies and paradoxes. Every day it acts in a way calculated to give the impression that great things are about to ensue and, lo, in an hour the ticker stops and stagnation follows. On Monday of this week commission houses were almost unanimously bullish and for the first time in a long period took hold with a will. By Tuesday noon they all grew afraid at the same time, by reason of the market dullness and threw their stocks overboard. They seemed to balance between exuberant bull conditions existing in the country and the dread of something to happen in the financial world, and so the commission house operators hesitate to take any decided position in the market. As soon as they buy stocks they have the shivers, and if they sell "short" they see ghosts of possible corners. It does appear though, that the bull side must win. The apprehension growing out of the fear of Federal investigations, in other words, corporation baiting, has the effect of calling a halt on everything in the way of kiting and promoting, so that there will not be any bubbles to be pricked and all this may save depression and panic later on. If money should work easier or even normally from this time a creeping market upwards should be a certainty. As it is now price movements are unimportant and many speculators fear that the market may be left to take care of itself for the time being, which is discouraging to those who like to see activity one way or another. Money has unquestionably been plentiful since January 1, and those of what is called "the public" who are in the market do not understand why some brokers should have had to pay exorbitant prices for loans. Thus the money question again has had the effect of limiting business. The only fact regarding stocks worthy of mention is that there is a growing feeling that Atchison may soon pass under the control of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Another matter that has caused rejoicing in Wall Street is the announcement that the Stamp law which required the same tax on a sale of $1 par as on one of $100 par was unconstitutional.

THE term of the Steinway tunnel franchise having expired, the city's engineer found upon investigation that the work is incomplete, that the underwater section is not pierced through, and that the boring has not proceeded as far as the public had previously been led by bulletins to think. Much as the population of this congested town needs this new gate to the suburbs, it is regrettable that the proprietors do not stand before the city in a better light. If there is one thing more than another that the American people have sickened of it is the game of deception and trickery as practiced by so many corporations engaged in the business of rendering a public service. We need this tunnel, but let us have it honorably, and on terms as fair to the public as to the builders. Now that the franchise has expired—if there was really a franchise—these terms should be the condition for an extension of time and the privilege of finishing and operating the line. Mysteries should be unveiled and the plans unrolled before the Mayor and the municipal cabinet, that a full understanding may be had concerning the service which the proprietors of this enterprise propose to render the public, and the fare which they hope to exact for it. No answer to the effect that the fare is already fixed by statute should be accepted, but a precise and definite agreement should be extracted from this very secretive corporate body not only in regard to tolls, but also pertaining to connections, transfers, train speed and personal comfort. Upon these particulars especially depend a satisfactory adjustment of real estate elements and balances between various parts of the city, and no doubt the people are more anxious about these matters than concerned over the weightier matters of finance, to which the Mayor must also give thought. It would seem to us as if the city had Mr. Belmont's tunnel project in chancery. A cartoon picturing the figure of the official head of the corporation caught in his own tube (trap) is suggested to our illustrated contemporaries. Another aspect of the case is the disclosure of the probability that the line will not be in shape to operate for fully two years, during which further period real estate interests in Queens must continue to hold their breath. And not only in that quarter, but in other quarters also—in South Brooklyn, Flatbush, the Jerseys—wherever there are expectant speculators discounting a predicted exodus from Manhattan, there will be a longer time to wait than has been advertised. We are, in a word, extremely sceptical of the predictions fixing early dates for the last stroke of work on any of the rapid transit lines now under construction, and of startling losses in population, and recessions in values and rentals. We have no idea that any of the changes will be more abrupt or disturbing for this old island city than any that have gone before. Water will always overflow the living fountain, but always there will be more people wishing to live here or required by their business to do so than available habitations can comfortably contain.

The Message of Mayor McClellan.

THE ANNUAL MESSAGE of Mayor McClellan did not receive the attention it deserved from the daily newspapers. It contained a number of new recommendations of the utmost importance; and it outlines a general plan for the future development of the resources of New York City and the improvement of its administration which, if carried out, will provide for almost all the important aspects of our municipal welfare. The Mayor makes some reference to every question of immediate moment connected with the government of the city. He refers to the necessity of equalizing salaries and to the work already accomplished to that end by the Commission he has appointed; and he urges the Board of Aldermen to adopt the resolution already passed by the Board of Estimate establishing various grades and positions and fixing salaries by grade. This is one of the most important of the many questions connected with the economical administration of the municipal government; but we are afraid that it is the sort of reform, in the execution of which no assistance can be expected from the Board of Aldermen. His references to the transit problem are brief and to the point. He states that "the city is now acting and will continue to act in the best of faith to carry out the provisions of the Elsberg bill," and he asserts that any statement that the terms of the Elsberg bill will make the contracts for the new subways unattractive to bidders is premature and ill-advised. It was only to be expected that the Mayor would take this stand; but it is encouraging to find him declaring so emphatically against the prophecies of evil, which have been coming from different members of the Transit Commission and their counsel. He calls attention to the work that is being done and planned in order to secure relief from congestion on the Brooklyn Bridge, to the rapid progress that is at last being made both on the tunnels, the Black-well's Island Bridge and the Manhattan Bridge. His message also contains useful information and valuable suggestions respecting the new water supply, the docks, the ferries and the schools.

It is impossible to follow the Mayor's message through all its ramifications, and we should prefer to confine our attention to a couple of suggestions on the Mayor's part, which open up comparatively new subjects for discussion. The Mayor comes out in favor of a revision of the charter and of a radical change in the method of condemning lands for public purposes, and as both of these recommendations open up new and important questions, it will be well to consider them more in detail.

In reference to charter revision, the Mayor's message reads as follows: "The amended charter has now been in force for a period of five years. In many respects it has successfully withstood the test of time, but there are a great many provisions which, in the opinion of competent judges, are in need of thorough revision. I believe that such a revision should be initiated by the city itself, and I therefore propose in a short time, to appoint a commission of the best available material to undertake this task. It will probably be necessary, after the appointment of such a Commission, to ask you to provide for their ordinary expenses, to which request I trust that no objection will be raised." The Record and Guide believes that the majority of intelligent New Yorkers will agree with the Mayor that, while the amended charter has served its purpose fairly well, it does require some modification, but it is probable that no such agreement could be reached in respect to the nature of the desirable amendments. The Record and Guide has certain strong convictions on this point which are probably different from those of the Mayor and certainly different from those of the Board of Aldermen; but now that the matter has been raised, it will be as well to give some idea of the direction which, in our opinion, the charter should be revised. The object of the revision should be to make it a more coherent and efficient governing instrument than it is at present, and this can best be done by strengthening the hands of the officials and the Boards, which have used well the powers which have been granted to them. The existing charter tends to concentrate executive responsibility in the hands of the Mayor, and semi-legislative or governing responsibility in the hands of the Board of Estimate; and the amendments to the charter should look in the direction of strengthening this excellent tendency. It has already been found necessary to diminish considerably the powers originally granted to the Board of Aldermen; and if this Board were suppressed entirely, such suppression would be of the utmost assistance in the economical and the speedy transaction of the city's business. Its existence is a positive detriment to the city's welfare, for its power is limited to vetoing the action of the efficient and responsible officials, and it uses this power just as much as it dares. The Record and Guide believes also that too much power and responsibility is now enjoyed by the Borough Presidents. In a number of flagrant instances that power has been misused. The Borough President is interested chiefly in obtaining as much money as he can get from the City Treasury for the purpose of spending it in and for his borough, and although he sits on the Board of Estimate he represents only local interests in that board. He should, in our opinion, be made simply an administrative official, appointed by the Mayor, and responsible to the Mayor for the economical administration of his offices. At the same time his power over public improvements should be curtailed. On the other hand, if the Board of Estimate were relieved both of the burden of the Board of Aldermen and the presence of the Borough Presidents, it, too, should be strengthened somewhat in its membership. Several elected members should take the place of the President of the Board of Aldermen and the Borough Presidents, and these new members might, in addition, possess certain specific functions in respect to public improvements, rapid transit and the like. The details of the changes would need careful consideration, but there can be no doubt that the objects of the revision should be (1) to do away with anachronisms, (2) to centralize both power and responsibility, and (3) wherever possible to simplify the machinery. The analogy of a private corporation with its president and its board of directors is the proper one to follow.

In the matter of condemning land for public purposes, the Mayor recommends a necessary and a radical alteration of existing methods. At the present time the city, when it wishes to cut a new street through, or obtain the site for a park or a schoolhouse, can only condemn the land immediately necessary for such a purpose. The consequence is that the city is frequently obliged to pay as much for a portion of a lot as it would have to pay for a whole lot, while the property-owner has left on his hands a narrow strip of land which cannot be effectively improved. It would be much more economical, in case the city were able to condemn all the property immediately adjoining the area specifically included in the improvement. This adjoining property could be held during the course of the improvement, and subsequently sold off at an increased price in large parcels, which would be available for a better type of building. In this way foreign cities are frequently able to pay the cost of cutting a new street through an old part of the city, and New York City will never be able to alter its street plan, as it is necessary that its street plan should be altered, until it adopts some such means of diminishing the cost. We are aware that an amendment to the constitution will be necessary before the city can obtain the legal power to adopt this method; but no such obstacle should discourage its advocates. The present method is costly to the city, and sometimes, as in the case of Elm St., almost ruinous to the property-owners. If the city had acquired all the property in Elm St. to within 100 feet of the parallel avenues to the east and west, the property-owners would have avoided a cruel loss and Elm street would have been rebuilt with twelve-story loft buildings, which would have been erected on the large plots facing the new street, which the city could have sold. The Record and Guide regards a radical alteration in the methods of condemning real estate as an absolute condition of the successful re-planning and beautification of New York, in which so many people are interested; and the Mayor has performed a public service in calling attention so conspicuously to the matter.

Proposed Reform in Condemnation Procedure

CONDEMNATION proceedings as now conducted are so wasteful and unscientific as to constitute a blot on the administration of this branch of the City's Law Department. It will be easy to point out the many directions in which the great wastefulness is apparent; and it will be equally evident that these cannot be cured simply by the selection of the highest type of appointees as commissioners. Indeed, ideal conditions involve the selection of experienced and competent men, in order to attain the best results; but the compensation fixed by law for the work on these commissions is such that a man of any standing cannot afford to act, if he is expected to devote to the statutory day more than a fractional portion of the calendar day in return for the compensation which is allowed. Yet many proceedings require experienced and competent handling.

But taking conditions as they are we find the following elements of great waste:

I. The AVERAGE as well as the AGGREGATE costs of a proceeding frequently are OUT OF ALL PROPORTION to the work actually done.

If a commissioner sits as long as an hour and a half, that time, together with the time necessarily consumed in going between his own office and the office of the condemnation commission, makes such a "day" as fairly entitles him to a $10 fee; the better the commissioner, the more he is entitled to this consideration. Thus sitting an hour and a half (which is the average time, and which, as I have shown, is as much as can be expected) there are always little wastes before the machinery of the hearing gets going: such as waiting for laggards, correcting mistakes of prior hearings, and resuming the thread of the proceedings. If, however, the hearing in a matter were to begin, like the trial of a case, at ten o'clock in the morning before a body sitting continuously, and were to go on throughout the day and then from day to day until finished, many proceedings could be finished in a day or two; and few would extend beyond a week.

Four Boards of Commissioners for Manhattan and the Bronx could do all the work; one being assigned for water front proceedings, one for those under Chapter 21 of the Charter, and two for the assessment proceedings at the Bureau of Street Openings. It can be ascertained readily that the total salaries of twelve such commissioners is only a small fraction of the costs taxed under the present methods. A like arrangement for the Second Department would answer equally well.

Another saving will be in the very considerable expense for expert witnesses who charge for DAILY attendance; no witness will be required, as a rule, to attend more than one or two days under the new dispensation. Another saving will be in the cost of stenographic reports. Four Boards of Commissioners would require four salaried stenographers at $2,000 a year apiece; this would make a great deal less than the stenographers bills now taxed.

II. A more important consideration is the fact that the inordinate delays now usual would be avoided, because when a matter is once taken up IT IS DISPOSED OF IN A FEW DAYS. It will be to the interest of everybody connected with a proceeding to hurry it through.

III. A further material object will be the saving in heavy interest charges now burdened upon the city. Take the case of the present proceeding for the acquisition of property for the Brooklyn Bridge extension: if the value of the property to be taken is $3,000,000 (which is the amount appropriated for it), then the city is paying $500 a DAY for interest from the time of vesting until confirmation. (This will run for MONTHS in this particular matter.) That interval would be practically nothing, if the matter went before such a salaried Board of Commissioners. I have known of many instances where this interest item was very considerable, and ran for very large periods.

IV. There is pending now a Staten Island proceeding which has been running for a very long time and which was finally submitted several months ago. The Commissioners have taken all summer for considering the award; and now one of them (Acker) has died. A new man must be appointed; and before he can be expected to join in an award he will doubtless claim a CONSIDERABLE ALLOWANCE OF TIME in order to familiarize himself with the entire record. If it had been brought before a salaried Board of Commissioners the decision would have followed the closing of the hearings within a very short time; or, if the Commissioner had died even within such short interval, the substitute would not take very long to join in an award.

V. The Corporation Counsel loses a great deal of time and wastes a great deal of effort in preparing elaborate briefs in the important proceedings, because with each commission there is generally some new man who must be taught the principles involved. The waste of this time would be abolished.

VI. A Board of Commissioners would soon adopt a practicable system of procedure and proof, which would very much simplify and shorten these hearings. Excepting in the very rare instances where two rival claimants might appear in contest of some particular single parcel, the method of proving titles which now consumes so much time would speedily be changed.

VII. The proposed method would also be a relief to the profession, because now lawyers have to waste days and days in attending before these Commissioners on behalf of clients; whereas if the change were made it would be a matter of attending (as they do in the trial of a lawsuit) for a continuing short period of time.

VIII. The city would also save the extra allowances now granted in the exceptional cases in which they are properly granted to Commissioners.

II.

THE PROPOSED REMEDY.

The Constitution provides that compensation made for property taken in condemnation shall be assessed "by a jury or by not less than three Commissioners appointed by a Court of Record, AS SHALL BE PRESCRIBED BY LAW."

The last six words of that provision clearly indicate that the Legislature was intended to be vested with absolute control as to the method of selecting these Commissioners, or as to prescribing their qualifications.

This matter was thoroughly and exhaustively discussed in a brief submitted to the Legislature by the Law's Delay Commission in 1904. It was particularly pointed out that the power to provide that a Commissioner must be a freeholder, or must be a local resident or otherwise limiting the selection, equally authorized the further limitation of the proposed measure.

The bill herewith submitted expressly provides that in EACH INDIVIDUAL INSTANCE the three Commissioners who are to act in any particular matter are to be specifically and in the particular proceeding "appointed by a Court of Record, as shall be prescribed by law."

III.

THE PROPOSED BILL ANALYZED.

Section 1. As has already been pointed out, twelve commissioners for Manhattan and Bronx and twelve commissioners for Kings, Queens, Richmond and Nassau will, for the present, be ample to cover the work. A quorum of each set of the commissioners ought to be lawyers of some standing and experience.

Section 2. To make the term six years assures to the work the benefit of the experience of the men thus selected; it seems advisable to make a change, however, at this interval.

The salary should be sufficient to secure for the services men of experience and qualification, who will be unable to engage in any other remunerative employment, while thus occupied; the salary should be the more liberal, as the term is shorter. It will readily appear that the aggregate salaries provided for by the proposed bill constitute ONLY A NOMINAL PERCENTAGE OF THE AGGREGATE of fees paid to commissioners under the present system.

Section 3. By requiring commissioners to sit every secular day (excepting July and August) their continuous services are compelled, to the exclusion of everything else.

Section 4. Permitting these Boards to make "rules governing proceedings" will enable the method of procedure to be made such as to minimize technical requirements and to expedite them.

Sections 5 and 6. These proposed sections speak for themselves, and are as intended to obviate any question of construction or conflict as between the old law and the new.

Section 7. The provisions of this proposed section are intended to conform the law to the requirements of the Constitution, as well as to the Condemnation Act passed in 1906.

Sections 8, 9 and 10. These speak for themselves.

IV.

The bill herewith submitted is the fruit of consideration of several years, and results after consultation with many of those best qualified to advise, who have been interested in the reform of condemnation procedure. It will not be difficult to make in it any alterations which may be thought to add to its greater effectiveness.

Very respectfully submitted,

BENNO LEWINSON.

AN ACT for the appointment of Boards of Condemnation Commissioners in the Greater City of New York.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The respective Appellate Divisions of the Supreme Court for the First and Second Departments shall on June 1, 1907, appoint a Board of twelve Commissioners for each of said departments to be known as Board of Condemnation Commissioners. Upon the expiration of the terms of any such Commissioners or in the event of the happening of a vacancy the Appellate Divisions shall appoint their respective successors. Said Commissioners shall be residents of the department for which they are appointed, and not less than eight members of each Board shall at all times consist of lawyers of upwards of ten years' standing.

Section 2. Said Commissioners and their respective successors shall be appointed for a term of six years, excepting that six of those first appointed on each of said Board shall be appointed for three years and excepting that appointees to fill vacancies occurring during an unexpired term shall continue in office until the expiration of said unexpired term. The annual salary of said Commissioners shall be $9,000 each, to be ratably apportioned as an item of expense among the proceedings respectively conducted before them, in like manner as other expenses of condemnation proceedings are now assessed against the various proceedings. Such salary shall be in lieu of all other compensation or emoluments.

Section 3. Said Board shall sit in subdivisions of three Commissioners each. Each of said subdivisions shall hold sessions daily, excepting Saturdays, legal holidays, the week between Christmas and New Year: and excepting that during the months of July and August sessions shall be held only at such times as may be designated by the Corporation Counsel of the City of Greater New York.

Section 4. The rules of the Supreme Court shall, so far as applicable, govern the proceedings before these Commissioners. The said Boards may from time to time make such other rules governing proceedings before them as shall not be inconsistent with the above rules and as may be approved of by the Corporation Counsel of the City of New York.

Section 5. Two Commissioners of a subdivision of a Board of Condemnation Commissioners who shall have been appointed in any proceedings shall constitute a quorum therein and shall be authorized to make a finding or a report which shall be as effective as if made or signed by all three of such Commissioners. And said Commissioners shall have all the powers and functions and shall exercise all the duties of Condemnation Commissioners as now conferred by law.

Section 6. All references in the Act commonly known as the Charter of the Greater City of New York to proceedings for the taking by condemnation proceedings of any land or other property by the City of New York shall apply to proceedings hereafter taken before the respective Boards of Condemnation Commissioners hereby created and their successors; and all references therein to Condemnation Commissioners shall, in such proceedings, be held to be to the said Boards and their respective subdivisions.

Section 7. Whenever the taking of any private property for public purposes by the City of New York shall have been duly authorized and directed, as provided in the Charter of the Greater City of New York, it shall be the duty of the Corporation Counsel immediately to institute a proceeding to acquire title and in the manner now prescribed by the provisions of the said Charter and appropriate to proceedings for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment. Upon such an application it shall be lawful for the court to determine whether such proceedings shall be taken; and if the court shall so determine, then the matter shall proceed before such three members of the respective Boards of Commissioners hereby created as the court shall appoint for that purpose in the order to be entered upon such determination. And in all proceedings in which the cost, or a portion thereof, shall be payable by assessment, one of said Commissioners shall in said order be designated as Commissioner of Estimate and Assessment.

Section 8. No Commissioner appointed under the provisions of this Act shall be interested in any manner in any proceeding in which he participates; nor shall any Commissioner, directly or indirectly, in any manner share in any award for the taking of any property in any of these proceedings or in any fees for services rendered therein.

Section 9. All provisions of the Charter of the Greater City of New York which are inconsistent with the terms and provisions of this Act, are, in so far as they are inconsistent, hereby repealed.

Section 10. This Act shall take effect June 1, 1907. Nothing herein contained shall, however, affect proceedings brought prior to June 1, 1907; to all of which proceedings the law now in force shall continue to be applicable, as if this Act had not been passed.

Pennsylvania Terminal Plans.

SPACE OPPOSITE DEPOT ON SEVENTH AVENUE, BETWEEN 32D AND 33D STREETS TO BE LEFT OPEN—OFFICE STRUCTURE TO COVER McADOO FRONTAGE ON SIXTH AVENUE.

REGARDING the future of the block front on the east side of 7th av, between 32d and 33d sts, there seems to be an unsettled point in the minds of many operators. This block faces the northern half of the Pennsylvania terminal building and has been cleared and is being excavated for some 340 ft. on the 33d st side, and to a less extent on the 32d st side; and as the 6th av end of the square will be covered with the McAdoo Terminal building and sub-structure, Thos. Dimond's iron-works are left to occupy a peculiar and strategical position in the middle of the square, as the supposition is that practically all the properties in the square, except Mr. Dimond's, have been acquired or are controlled in the interest of the two railroad companies.

Primarily, the 7th av frontage is needed by the Pennsylvania for subway trackage, and to accommodate a curve in the route, caused by the fact that the depot occupies a width of two blocks on 7th av, while the right-of-way for the main line is narrower. It has been rumored that the Pennsylvania Railroad under some form of ownership would erect a hotel there, and it will be recalled that there was at one time circumstantial reports that part of the terminal building would have the form and be managed as a hotel. Architectural designs giving more or less detail of a palatial hotel skyscraper were printed in the daily press, and from this fact mainly has grown the idea that a hotel would be erected under allied interests on the east side of 7th av, between 32d and 33d sts.

While the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is debarred by law from engaging in real estate operations other than the acquisition of land strictly necessary for its own business, and from engaging in any business other than that of a common carrier, it would appear from recent disclosures that officers or employees have been active with side interests. However this may be, no hotel will be erected on this 7th av front, and the Record and Guide is very authoritatively informed that the space will be left vacant for plaza purposes, except that it may be roofed over with glass.

The intimation that has been given out in behalf of the railroad that it has acquired all the property it needs or intends to purchase in that section may well be true in the present and for a certain future period, but it is hard to believe that in due time, after both terminal buildings are erected, that the ragged edges in the landscape will not be smoothed away.

It has been reported that 32d st would be widened to 100 ft., between 6th and 7th avs, through a co-ordination of interests on the part of the two railroads, but the plans fixed for the Hudson & Manhattan Company, taking up the whole 6th av block front, imply no intention of doing this, and it is officially stated that there is no ground for the report, as they have no more reason for widening 32d st than for widening Cortlandt st, and if any widening is desired by the public the city will have to do it by slicing the south side of the street. The Pennsylvania wants to get its holdings on an income basis as soon as possible, and can't see any money in widening streets. Plans in preparation by the Rapid Transit Commission for a 7th av subway show a station at 33d and 34th sts.

A report in the daily papers this week, that a 20-sty hotel building will cover the McAdoo terminal site, and that Bruce Price and de Sibour are the architects, is officially denied. Mr. McAdoo personally informed the Record and Guide last March (see issue of March 3, 1906) that a 15-sty office building would be erected on this site, and the architectural firm named state that it is not true that they are the architects for the building.

Meeting American Institute of Architects.

The fortieth annual convention of the American Institute of Architects, which was held at Washington three days this week, was a largely attended and very interesting session. The members first met on Monday morning at 9.30 in the assembly hall of the New Willard Hotel, to register their names, and at 10 o'clock an address of welcome was delivered by the high municipal officer of the district.

Reports on the following matters were presented by standing or special committees: House, Glenn Brown, chairman; Education, Ralph Adams Cram, chairman; Foreign Correspondence, Glenn Brown, chairman; Contracts and Lien Laws, Alfred Stone, chairman; Applied Arts and Sciences, Irving K. Pond, chairman.

At a reception in the Corcoran Art Gallery on the evening of the 8th, the gold medal of the American Institute of Architects was conferred upon Sir Aston Webb, R. A., by the president of the American Institute of Architects. The British Government was represented by Mr. Wm. Esme Howard, Charge d'Affaires. On Wednesday exercises commemorative of the foundation of the American Institute of Architects were held at the New Willard, 2.30 to 3.30 P. M. Addresses, reminiscent and historical, were delivered by Robert S. Peabody, Alfred Stone and other members of the Institute. At the Octagon, 4 to 5.30 P. M., there was a reception and tea, an unveiling of a tablet erected in honor of the founders, and an exhibition of illustrations of the works of Sir Aston Webb, R. A. In the evening came the annual dinner at the New Willard.

The following named officers were elected: President, Frank Miles Day, Philadelphia; Vice President, Wm. Bryce Mundie, Chicago; Secretary and Treasurer, Glenn Brown, Washington, D. C.

Important Lease.

VAN SCHAICK PROPERTY, FIFTH AVENUE AND 14TH STREET, LEASED FOR APPROXIMATELY $2,500,000.

ONE of the most important leases in the central section made in some time has just been concluded, whereby the well-known Van Schaick property, at the southwest corner of 5th av and 14th st, size 73 ft. 3 ins. x 107 ft., has been transferred by the owner, Mr. Henry Van Schaick, to the Van Schaick Realty Company, and by this corporation leased for a long term of years for approximately $2,500,000 to a corporation of which Samuel E. Jacobs and Maximilian Morgenthau are the principal stockholders.

This property has been held by the Van Schaick family for over 80 years Myndert Van Schaick originally purchased the entire block front from 13th to 14th st, building his residence, at that time one of the most prominent in the city, on the corner plot. The remainder of the block front was sold to various purchasers, a 30-ft. plot adjoining having been within the past two years repurchased by Mr. Van Schaick from B. Aymar Sands, making his 5th av frontage 73 ft. and 3 ins.

Over twenty years ago the late William C. Demorest leased the corner property, which for some time had been used as an apartment house, for a long term and enlarged the building, putting six stores on the 14th st front. This building, known as the Knickerbocker, has long been a landmark in this neighborhood.

The new lease involves the erection by the Van Schaick Realty Co. of a 16-sty store and loft building, with basement and sub-cellar, work to begin May 1, 1907. It is expected the building will be ready for occupancy Feb. 1, 1908.

There have been in the past few years many changes in the character of buildings on 5th av, between 14th and 23d sts, and in the side streets between 5th and 6th avs. Many handsome and expensive loft buildings have been erected. The increase in values has been marked, and it is a question only of a short time before this entire district will be given over to high-class loft buildings to be occupied by importers and wholesale dealers in the dry goods and kindred trades. The transaction referred to above has taken many months to complete, involving as it did the purchase not only of the lease held by the Demorest estate but the numerous sub-leases of the other tenants, which necessitated the expenditure of a large amount of money. A. W. McLaughlin & Co. were the brokers who conducted the negotiations, which were unusually complicated.

Just how many stories the 33d st station will actually be built is still indefinite, although at Mr. McAdoo's office, on March 3 last, it was announced that the building would contain a terminal and office building 15 stories in height, to measure 250 x 300 ft. in size.

BUILDING NOTES

David Thompson, Manhattan's well-known iron merchant, and one of the oldest graduates of Columbia University, died on Dec. 30, in his eighty-fourth year. He was a classmate of the late Abram S. Hewitt, in the class of 1841, and was a native of New York.

Asa M. Mattice, M. Am. Soc. M. E., consulting engineer, 60 Wall st, Manhattan, has accepted the management of the works of the Walworth Manufacturing Co., South Boston, Mass., and closed his consulting office Dec. 31. His address is in care of the above company.

Frank P. Allen, Jr., has been appointed director of works of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition which will be held at Seattle during the summer of 1909. It is the duty of the director of works to supervise all work done on the grounds, and after the exposition opens to have charge of the maintenance of the grounds and buildings. Mr. Allen gained his exposition experience at the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland in 1905, where he had charge of the structural work.

The Illuminating Engineer, the magazine devoted to the science and art of illuminating, marks its progress by removing to more commodious offices at 12 West 40th st, opposite the New York Public Library. The editor, E. Leavenworth Elliott, E. E., is a voluminous writer on electrical subjects, but always thorough and scientific in his treatment. That his efforts on behalf of his splendid magazine are achieving success is very gratifying, both to his friends and those whose watchword is "progress."

Electrification of the First Avenue Horse Car Line.

The Real Estate Owners' Association of the 12th and 19th Wards has been actively engaged for a number of years in endeavoring to secure a change of motive power, from horse to electricity, on the First avenue road. About eight years ago the Metropolitan Railroad Company applied to the owners of real estate along First av for consents to change the motive power to electricity. It was largely through the efforts of the Real Estate Owners' Association that the consents were procured as required by the order of the Appellate Division. Since then the company has made repeated promises to exercise the privilege conferred; but has to date failed to carry out the same. In an interview, Mr. Adolph Bloch, counsel for the association, stated:

"The consents granted by the owners on First av for a change of motive power amounted in law to a mere license, which had to be exercised within a reasonable time, although no period was therein specified. It may be that a reasonable time may be one or two years, possibly three, and by a wide stretch of imagination, five, certainly not eight years after the license was granted. Upon my advice, the association authorized me to institute proceedings before the Attorney-General of this State to declare these consents forfeited and abandoned by reason of non-use, or to compel the railroad company to convert the motive power from horse to electricity without further delay. I took immediate steps to prepare the necessary papers for the institution of such proceedings. A public hearing was also secured before the Board of Aldermen, and the matter was thoroughly gone into, and assurances received from the Board that its power would be exerted to secure the relief desired. I also had a personal interview with the committee of our association with Governor Hughes on December 24, at which I discussed with him the legal and practical aspect of the situation. In compliance with his assurance to me, he made specific reference to the abolition of the horse car lines in his first message to the Legislature. I am happy to say that Mr. Henry A. Robinson, General Solicitor of the New York City Railway Company, called on me yesterday, and informed me that Mr. Vreeland was then attending a meeting of the Merger Committee of the Interborough Metropolitan Company, at which the very matter of the First av line was under discussion. Later in the afternoon, Mr. Vreeland rang up, and stated that the board passed the necessary resolutions, and this morning I received Mr. Vreeland's letter, in which he stated, in part, that he had directed the engineering and construction departments to ask for bids for material required for the amount of lines that will be changed during the coming summer, of which lines First av will be the first.

"I am very glad, indeed, that an electric road on First av will soon be a reality. Its importance to property owners along and east of First av cannot be underestimated. The Yorkville section has been suffering a long time for lack of transportation facilities. Every owner along that section will now be benefited."

QUESTION BOX

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

If you give a man a lease for six years, who must pay for making the lease and recording it, the owner or the lessee?

Answer.—Usually the landlord draws the lease or pays for drawing it. He, however, has no interest in recording it, and so does not pay for recording it.

When a Deed is Stolen.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

What is the best course to pursue when a deed has been stolen, but recorded, the owner having never had the deed in his possession?

Answer.—We think that the record of the deed is sufficient, and that nothing further need be done. You could readily get a certified copy of the deed from the record if you should need it.

Apply the Hofman Rule.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I am in negotiation with an adjoining owner in the rear of property owned by me (as per diagram below) and as we desire to be mutually fair to each other we are in doubt as to the proportionate value to be placed on a gore in excess of a 100-ft. lot valued at $20,000. If there is any rule or custom that you know of by which I can figure the square feet of the gore as below shown, kindly let me know through your valuable paper or in answer to this letter.

Answer.—This is a clear case for the application of the Hofman rule.

When Bought in Good Faith.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

A sells to B a saloon free and clear. B takes possession at once. In about ten days C calls and asks for Mr. A. B says: "I have bought the place and paid cash for it, including stock." Now C sends B bill for merchandise bought by A and says B must pay same, as he, B, is responsible for same.

Answer.—It would seem that there was some ground for C's contention in Chapter 528 of the Laws of 1902, as amended by Chapter 569 of the Laws of 1904, to which our correspondent is referred. This act has, however, been held unconstitutional in the case of Wright vs. Hart 182 N. Y., 330, so that our opinion is that the purchase by B of the saloon if made in good faith is free from any claims made by A's creditors.

When the Roof Leaks and the House is Cold.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

On the 15th of November I moved into a new apartment at 616 West 137th st. The building being under course of construction the owner promised to have the apartment ready for me on the 15th of November. It was not ready, but I moved in anyway. A few days after I took possession the roof leaked and did some little damage to one of my dressers. The ceiling had to be taken off and new plastering put on. The gas fixtures are not completed and the steam-heating plant is very bad, and we are unable to keep the rooms warmer than 58 degrees above zero. I understand the owner is suing the firm that put in the furnace and the steam plant. Now my January rent will be due in a few days, would you advise paying the same, or what recourse have I in the matter.

Answer.—Upon the ground that by the failure of the steam heating plant to keep the rooms warmer than 58 degrees above zero, you would be justified in vacating the premises and ceasing to pay rent. (See Laws of 1896, chapter 547, section 197), known as the Real Property Law.

Boiler Inspections.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

We are agents for two 40-ft. office buildings which happen to have been built with high-pressure boilers in the basements for heating purposes.

These boilers have never been run under high pressure, and doubtless never will be, as there is no machinery or any other reason for so doing; in fact, they are set to blow off at 15 pounds. Each boiler is in charge of a competent man, who has been managing it for a number of years with great care.

The Police Department have been inspecting these boilers yearly, which has been a source of considerable annoyance, as it has necessitated the shutting down of the boilers for at least half the day even when the inspection was made promptly on the day specified.

We recently wrote to Commissioner Bingham asking him if it was necessary for this annual inspection to be made under the circumstances, as we knew that many other boilers in the city which were used for heating purposes only were not so inspected. We yesterday received a call from a representative of this department, who stated to us that under the law it is necessary to continue this inspection. Furthermore, that he would insist on our installing licensed engineers in each building.

The enforcement of such a regulation would be a great hardship to the present employees, as well as to the owners of the property. Will you kindly advise us what our rights are in such a matter, and oblige. J. C. & CO.

So far as we can see, your rights have not been violated in any respect. The law requires an inspection of high-pressure boilers by a bureau of the Police Department at regular intervals, especially after they have been in service for some years, as yours evidently have been. When a boiler is new, and after a thorough inspection has once been made of it, and the necessary particulars noted in the records of the bureau, it is not the practise to inspect it again for some years, and this is the reason why some of your neighbors have not been annually visited. When their boilers get old like yours, they will have their turn. If you will ask the bureau, the officers in charge will no doubt arrange to inspect your installation at such times as will be more convenient to you, but you cannot expect nor will they stop their regular inspections until it is time for you to exchange your old boilers for new ones. You can also avoid these inspections by putting in a cast iron sectional boiler (low pressure), or two such boilers if the cubic dimensions are too large for one, and then you would not be troubled by inspectors. You will, we think, perceive upon reflection that the ordinance is right and proper, and our advice is not to fight the law but to comply in a pleasant manner, and the next time, if your building is not too large, to put in a boiler that will not need to be inspected.

Lawyers Mortgage Company Annual Report, Jan. 1, 1907

To the Board of Directors:

Gentlemen—Despite higher interest rates for call and time money during the past year and a slow market for high grade bonds, the sales of Guaranteed Mortgages by the Lawyers Mortgage Company during 1906 have notably exceeded the figures of any previous year, the total sales being $22,959,085, the net increase in Outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages being $13,577,369, and the present amount of outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages being $54,454,150.

The comparative figures for recent years are as follows:

	Mortgages Sold.	Mortgages Paid off.	Net Gain in Outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages.
1902	$4,105,575	$2,065,083	$2,040,492
1903	9,014,014	3,350,514	5,663,500
1904	16,269,278	5,826,629	10,442,649
1905	19,922,009	7,155,625	12,766,384
1906	22,959,085	9,381,716	13,577,369

The Mortgage Tax Law of 1905, which levied a tax of ½% per annum on all mortgages recorded between July 1st, 1905, and July 1st, 1906, had the effect of raising interest rates by about ½% per annum. On all mortgages sold by the Lawyers Mortgage Company during this period a difference of 1% was made between the interest rate borne by the mortgage and that received by the investor, being ½% to cover the annual tax and ½% to cover the Guarantee fee of the Company. When the Mortgage Tax Law of 1905 was repealed the Lawyers Mortgage Company, adhering to its announced purpose to limit its guaranty fee to ½%, increased the interest rate to investors on all mortgages filed between July 1st, 1905, and July 1st, 1906, by ½% per annum, this Company being the only Mortgage Company in New York which followed this course.

The accompanying map shows the distribution of the total outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages of the Company on January 1st, 1907.

It is worthy of note that 66% of the Company's mortgages are on Manhattan Island (all below 155th Street, except as to $76,000); 29% are in Brooklyn, and 5% in The Bronx, all loans being confined to established and built-up sections.

The earnings on Capital Stock and Dividends for recent years have been as follows:

	Capital.	Earnings.	Dividend.
1902	$1,000,000	6 per cent.	5 per cent.
1903	$2,500,000	7 per cent.	5 per cent.
1904	$2,500,000	8 per cent.	6 per cent.
1905	$2,500,000	11 per cent.	7 per cent.
1906	$2,500,000	13 per cent.	8 per cent.

The large net increase in outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages in the past year is but little reflected in the earnings for 1906, but will show in the earnings for 1907 and succeeding years. No commissions are earned when mortgages are sold, the Company's ½% annual profit coming only as time elapses. For this reason the earnings of any year depend upon the total guaranteed mortgages outstanding rather than upon the sales of the current year. With outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages of $54,454,150 it may be figured that the net earnings of the Company for the year 1907 should amount to about 16%.

UNEARNED PREMIUMS.

In addition to the cash earnings are the Unearned Premiums, which consist of the Company's contract profit of ½% per annum on outstanding mortgages from the date of this statement to the maturity of the mortgages. These future profits which are not carried as assets have increased as follows:

Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1903	$103,555
Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1904	149,257
Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1905	279,948
Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1906	449,200
Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1907	591,508

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES.

New York City Mortgages	$4,532,687.98
Company's Brooklyn Bldg. cost	85,000.00

	$4,827,105.09

LIABILITIES:

Undivided profits	28,180 75
Mortgages sold, not delivered	548,924.34
	$4,827,105.09

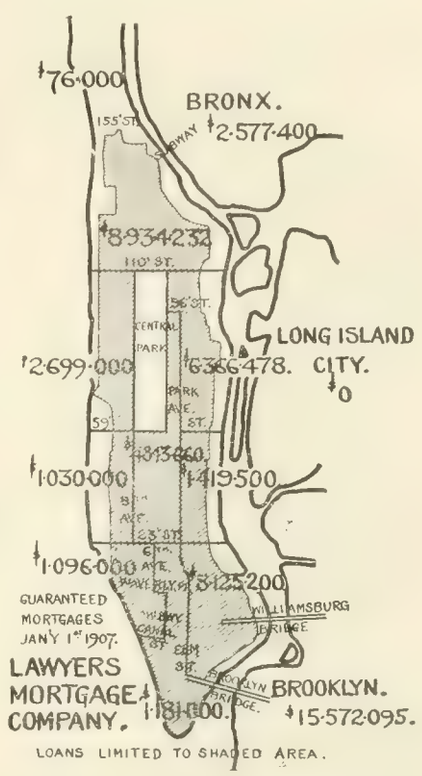
Since the increase in the Company's capital in March, 1903, dividends have been paid to stockholders amounting to $650,000, in addition to which $345,180 has been added to Surplus or Undivided Profits, making total net earnings of $995,180. In addition to these earnings, the net increase in Unearned Premiums from January 1st, 1903, to January 1st, 1907, amounts to $487,953.

The Assets and Liabilities of the Company were verified and its accounts were examined as of December 31st, 1906, by THE AUDIT COMPANY OF NEW YORK, the latter certifying to the correctness of the statement of Assets and Liabilities and to the Earnings. Expenses and Dividends of the year 1906, as reported herein.

The Company continues to rigidly adhere to the limitations which it has imposed to safeguard its business.

These restrictions, enforced only by the Lawyers Mortgage Company, are as follows:

First: THE TOTAL OUTSTANDING GUARANTEED MORTGAGES ARE LIMITED TO TWENTY TIMES THE CAPITAL AND SURPLUS OF THE COMPANY. To render this limitation practically irrevocable the following amendment to By-Law VIII., providing as above, has been passed: "This Article shall not be amended or repealed except with the written consent duly acknowledged of the holders of all the policies of mortgage insurance then outstanding issued by the Company." (This is the accepted European standard, whose safety has been demonstrated by 140 years of successful mortgage experience.)



Second: THE PROFITS OF THE COMPANY ON GUARANTEED MORTGAGES ARE LIMITED TO ONE-HALF PER CENT. PER ANNUM. (A similar limitation is required by law of European Mortgage Companies, and removes the temptation to accept doubtful loans for the sake of larger profits.)

Third: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO THE BOROUGHS OF MANHATTAN, BROOKLYN AND THE BRONX. (No loans made in adjoining suburban territory.)

Fourth: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO SELECTED AND WELL BUILT-UP DISTRICTS IN THESE BOROUGHS. (No loans made in undeveloped districts, or near nuisances.)

Fifth: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO INCOME-PRODUCING BUSINESS OR RESIDENCE PROPERTY. (No loans made on vacant land, churches, factories, theatres, or on any special utilization.)*

The effectiveness of these limitations in safeguarding the Company's investments is clearly evidenced by the remarkably clean record maintained by the Company as to delinquent interest and foreclosures. During the year there have been but two foreclosures, one a mortgage of $4,500 and one a row of five mortgages of $3,350 each, all paid off at foreclosure sale. The Company has now but one mortgage under foreclosure (amount $4,750), owns no foreclosed real estate, and has interest more than one month delinquent of only $1,085.

Guaranteed Mortgages Outstanding

The sound principles on which the Lawyers Mortgage Company conducts its business, and the publicity with which it reveals every detail of its business, have won the confidence of the most cautious investors in New York, and form the basis of the steady increase in its annual sales of Guaranteed Mortgages.

More and more are all investors—large and small, skilled and unskilled—coming to realize the double advantage of being both protected from all possibility of loss and relieved of all care of watching their investments. This is clearly shown by the fact that the Lawyers Mortgage Company has sold more Guaranteed Mortgages than in any previous year of its history in the face of such rates for call money in New York as 60% in January, 30% in April, 40% in September, 27% in November, 45% in December, etc.

Without doubt a contributing factor of importance has been the Mortgage Tax Law of 1906, under which all mortgages recorded after July 1st, 1906, pay a recording tax of ½%, and are henceforth tax exempt. This has led to the shifting of many millions of dollars of Trust Funds from low return bonds into Guaranteed Mortgages netting 4% and 4½%.

It may fairly be said that New York City Mortgages, selected by an experienced company, specifically secured by income-producing business or residence property, with an ample margin of security on present values, and with the added strength of New York's increase of over 100,000 population per annum, and further guaranteed by a Company of $4,250,000 of Capital and Surplus, give the greatest combination of security and return offered to investors.

President.

Record and Guide Quarterly

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you can not call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone 3157 Cortlandt.

section Mr. Mathews said that in his judgment values have increased 25 per cent. during the past year in that neighborhood.

Mr. J. E. Leaycraft, of J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co., 19 West 42d st, Manhattan, in commenting on the influence which the Pennsylvania terminal is exerting on property values in the section west of 6th av is not inclined to believe that its effect will be felt to any appreciable extent on 9th av and thereabouts.

Only fourteen brownstone dwelling houses are left of all those which once fronted Madison Square. As this beautiful park was something else until 1845, and the brownstone era not fairly beginning until after the Civil War, the city has seen almost a complete transformation of the surroundings within about one generation.

The annual meeting of the House and Real Estate Owners Association was held Jan. 11 at the New York Turn Hall, 85th st and Lexington av. The association has $4,600 in the treasury, and is an active and influential body, the same one which carried the test case against the new Tenement House Law to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Emanuele Burlando, Williamsbridge sq, has recently sold 31 lots in Adee Park, extending from 204th to 207th sts, east side of White Plains av, averaging about $900 per lot. Two Hundred and Seventh st is being sewered, graded, curbed and sidewalks flagged and will be 100 ft. in width. Mr. Burlando says realty prices continue firm.

The name of the Western lumber concern which has bought the property fronting on the Hudson River, between 137th and 138th sts, is being much inquired for in the lumber trade, but has not been disclosed. A dummy was employed in the negotiations, and even the seller, Edward H. Landon, does not know. Richtmyer & Irving were the brokers.

Mr. Rule, of the firm of Rule & Bach, Boston road and 169th st, said that he had noticed the installment into service of twelve large new cars on the Boston av trolley line; no doubt as a result of recent agitation on the part of the Real Estate Brokers and other organizations that have lent their aid in support of the demand for better transit facilities.

The recommendation of the County Court House Commission to take the whole east side of Union Square for a site (closing two streets) involves such a vast sum of money that real estate men hardly think it will be approved. For a year or more it has been understood that the commissioners would select a site on Union Square East, but no one thought they would ask for so much.

James Hagan, of the real estate firm of Hagan & Slevin, with offices at 231 West 116th st, died at his residence, 364 West 127th st, last Sunday. Mr. Hagan was about 55 years of age, and came to New York from County Tyrone, Ireland, twenty-four years ago. Mr. Hagan was with Hall J. How & Co. for years prior to his forming a partnership with Mr. Slevin. He leaves a widow.

The Knickerbocker Leasing & Realty Co. opened offices on Jan. 1, 1907, at 3068 Broadway. It is the intention of this corporation to maintain branch offices throughout Manhattan, and make a specialty of the management of high-class apartment property and estates. The officers are J. Theus. Munds, president; Murrel Sage, secretary; William Phipps, treasurer, and J. Day Lee, of 49 Wall st, attorney.

Attention has been called to the large number of mortgages filed in the office of the register during the week, particularly on January 10th, on which day out of a total number of 356 instruments recorded 193 were mortgages, 95 conveyances and 68 assignments. In commenting on the subject Register Frank Gass said that there was no particular significance in the occurrence, although it is generally known that many mortgagees are taking advantage of the new mortgage tax law and are refiling mortgages under more favorable terms.

James Nash Webb, for many years a member of the firm of Graham & Webb, established in 1875, and doing a general real estate and insurance business at 72 Av B, with a branch office at 1928 Lexington av, will conduct the business in future under his own name. Mr. Webb has developed a large collection business, taking entire charge of many large estates, and has been very successful in the sale of property amounting to several million dollars in the last few years. Mr. Webb owns considerable property, and believes there is no better investment than real estate, properly managed.

Mr. John L. O'Hara, of the firm of Peter S. O'Hara & Bro., 200th st and Webster av, Bedford Park, Bronx, said that the condition of the market was very good there, "considering the tightness of mortgage money," and said that the outlook for the near future was most encouraging. Most of the inquiries on the part of clients were for 1-family houses, costing from $3,500 to $7,500. He said that during the past two months 75 per cent. of the transactions had been for all cash above the first mortgage. He said that since the first of January he had closed ten sales, which were all cash deals. Lots in the old vicinity of Bedford Park average from $2,000 to $7,500 each, according to location; while surrounding sections bring from $1,000 to $3,000 per lot.

The New York Tax Reform Association has published a pamphlet entitled "Pocket Tax Law for Business Men," which describes what property is taxable and what is exempt, and contains also a short description of State taxes. The design of the pamphlet is to enable the average citizen to determine his taxable status, personally or in a representative capacity, though no attempt is made to supersede the advice of counsel. The pamphlet is an enlargement of one prepared a year ago for the use of members, and which was in such demand that the edition was soon exhausted. While the present one was prepared primarily for members of the association, copies have been placed on sale with Baker, Voorhis & Co. for the convenience of the public. So many requests for information were received by the association that the necessity for a brief but complete statement of the law was apparent and no such statement was in existence. No one can comprehend the law without knowing the decisions of the courts, and this pamphlet combines both in simple form.

The Index to Volume LXXVIII. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between July 1 and December 31, 1906, will be ready for delivery on Wednesday, January 16. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the offices of publication, 11-15 East 24th St., and 14 and 16 Vesey St.

The plot, which contains over 37,000 sq. ft., comprises the block front, with the exception of the 100th st corner, 50x150, and has frontages of 150 ft. on 101st st and 50 ft. on 100th st. The corner of 101st st has been leased for ten years to Herman Wohn, and the store adjoining to F. Haberman. On the plot is a large frame structure, which was formerly the residence of the Rev. CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed considertion, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyence, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, the the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

January 4, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

ONE PER CENT. GAINED — A three or four-story building may be built which will net you about seven per cent. on your investment. If you put in the Luxfer System of Sidewalk Lights you can make the basement as well lit with daylight as are the upper floors, and can in consequence get one per cent. more, perhaps, out of the investment. Anyway it will pay you to send for our man who will explain it to you. 'Phone 3276 Gramercy.

The Index to Volume LXXVIII. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between July 1 and December 31, 1906, is now ready for delivery. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is recognized as being indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the offices of publication, 11-15 East 24th St., or 14 and 16 Vesey St.

WALL STREET, this week, continues its record as a market of disappointments. Hope springs eternal in the bull's breast—the market always is to go up but doesn't. The prosperity and strong conditions of the country mount higher and higher all the time while properties represented by certificates of stock dealt in on the country's great exchange keep constantly declining. Nothing just like this has been seen before, and what it means nobody knows. It behooves real estate operators to sit up and take notice of it all, as cheaper money paradoxically only seems to have accelerated the decline. In turn the decline ought to make money still cheaper. Moreover, not only are stocks going down, but cotton, wheat, corn, coffee and other commodities are heavy and also keep declining, so that the operators in them are just as much at sea as those who make a specialty of stocks. It is useless giving reasons for this state of things amidst conflicting opinions on the subject as the would-be doctors disagree, both as to causes and the remedy. Their diagnoses are manifestly faulty. There was a report during the week that a prominent financier was critically ill, but as was subsequently shown there was not the slightest foundation for the rumor, as the appearance of the gentleman at a meeting of the Vanderbilt board on Wednesday proved. There is now a very large short interest in the market which, when bull leaders are found, if there be any, should cause a considerable advance in prices.

MADISON AVENUE is claiming a constantly increasing share in speculative attention. During the week the Century Realty Co. has made a considerable purchase in the thirties, and buying has also been noticeable on the same avenue just north of Forty-Second Street. Such purchases are dictated undoubtedly by excellent judgment. It is becoming more certain every day that Madison Avenue, between Twenty-seventh and Thirty-fourth Streets and between Forty-second and Fiftieth Streets, will play the part of a good second to Fifth Avenue. The values on Fifth Avenue are proportionately too high compared to the comparative serviceability of the two avenues for business purposes; and as Fifth Avenue prices are not coming down, it follows that Madison Avenue prices are likely to go up. In fact it is probable that Madison Avenue, throughout its whole length, Murray Hill alone excepted, will become increasingly a business thoroughfare. North of Fifty-ninth Street it may be expected that the new buildings will consist of apartment houses with shops on the ground floor, and that the old brownstone residences on the avenue will gradually be torn down. It looks as if Park Avenue were destined to become, next to Fifth Avenue, the most important private residential thoroughfare to the east of Central Park. It is in every way more available for this purpose than Madison Avenue. The lots are deeper. It is wider and pleasanter in appearance. It is free from trolley cars and will soon be free from underground steam locomotives. Good sites can still be bought tolerably cheap in spite of the existing buildings. Everything points towards the replacement of the dwellings on upper Madison Avenue by apartment houses and stores, and the replacement of the flats on Park Avenue with expensive residences.

AFTER a long delay the Court House Commission has finally selected a site for the new county building. The site includes the three blocks on the east side of Union Square. The plan is to condemn this whole area, close Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets and erect the building in about the centre of the plot so obtained. By these means the new court house would be surrounded by considerable vacant space, which would increase its opportunity of being architecturally effective and which would give it as much as possible of the isolation and quiet which the judges want. The selection has been received with favor, and it will probably be accepted by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The expense will be greater than it would have been in case a site on Washington Square had been selected, and the neighborhood of Washington Square is quieter; but on the whole, it must be conceded that a site on Union Square will be so much more convenient as to be worth the difference. The express station of the subway at Fourteenth street brings the proposed site within, at most, ten minutes of the City Hall and of the office buildings in the financial district. In fact, the court house would be so convenient to the existing offices of the lawyers that, as likely as not, many of them will not bother about moving their habitations. In other respects, also, the site is all that it should be. It is safe to say that the architect of the new building will have one of the noblest single opportunities ever offered to an American designer. He will have all the room he needs, both for and around the building. His structure will face an unencumbered public square; and if necessary the layout of that square can be altered so as to contribute to the architectural effect of the facade. We trust that the design will be equal to the opportunity, and that in the selection of the architect there will be no suspicion of any favoritism or "pull." The city officials have an opportunity in this instance of showing how expeditiously, economically and adequately a public building can be erected.

WHAT will be the effect of the erection of the Court House on the real estate in the vicinity of Union Square? No doubt it will stimulate activity in a region which has been comparatively inactive for a great many years; but it is easily possible to over-estimate the immediately beneficial effects of the proposed building. In the first place, unless all precedents fail, the erection of the new building will consume ten years or more, so that it will not be necessary to begin the erection of lawyers' office buildings in the immediate future, and by the time the new Court House is ready for occupation it is probable that the needs of the wholesale trade will have already brought about the building of many new loft buildings on available sites in that vicinity, such as the old Everett House. The retailers have, of late, been steadily deserting Union Square, and the Court House will not stop their exodus. If the selection of this particular site has any immediate effect on real estate, that effect will not be due to the new building which is to be erected, but to the old buildings which will have to be destroyed. The three blocks which must be vacated do not contain any business buildings of great importance; but at least two banks, one important publishing house, one theatre and a number of smaller business enterprises will have to obtain new quarters in the same vicinity; and the demand thus created will tend to raise rents. Most of the three blocks in question, however, are occupied for various residential purposes. There are several second-rate hotels, several old apartment houses and fifty or sixty dwellings, occupied for the most part by private families. It is improbable, however, that the displacement of this population will have much effect upon rents in the same vicinity. The families displaced are much more likely to emigrate to the upper East or West side, according to their taste, than to pay an increased rent for the privilege of living in the same vicinity. Thus the selection of a site on Union Square does not justify, for the time being, any considerable activity in local real estate. Eventually it may have a profound effect on the neighborhood in which it is situated, but that effect will not become a matter of speculative importance until the building approaches completion.

THE increase in the assessed valuation of real estate for the year, amounting to over $400,000,000, does not appear to be excessive. During the year covered by the activity of the assessors, which terminated, of course, in August, 1906, the new buildings alone, which were assessable, must have amounted to over $200,000,000 in value, which would leave less than $200,000,000 as representing the increase in the value of the land itself. When we remember the general levelling up in the price of tenement property in Manhattan which took place between August, 1905, and August, 1906, and the large increases in the price of unimproved property in all the outlying boroughs, an expansion of $200,000,000 in ground value seems to be distinctly moderate and conservative. We have no doubt that during the coming year, in case the construction of a municipal subway system became necessary, another $700,000,000 or $800,000,000 could be added to the assessed valuation of real estate without doing any injustice to the property-owner. The efforts of the Tax Department during 1907 should be turned chiefly towards the fair assessment of vacant land in the Bronx, in Queens and in Brooklyn. Everyone familiar with the subject knows that vacant land is still very much under-assessed compared with improved property; and that the speculator in vacant land is consequently favored at the expense of the man who improves his property. It is time that this should cease, particularly as we are entering upon a period of suburban development, which will in all probability be unprecedented in the history of the city.

IT must be admitted that the report of the State Tax Commission is a disappointment. No doubt this document contains many excellent recommendations, on which all the members of the Commission were agreed, such as the revision of the franchise and corporation taxes, the increase of the inheritance tax, the division of the proceeds of that tax between the counties and the State, and the distribution among the counties of any State surplus over $10,000,000. No doubt, also, the establishment of the principle on which the report insists, that State taxation is really only an incident of local taxation and should be subordinated thereto, is of prime importance, and should be constantly kept in mind. Nevertheless, the Commission has accomplished in an ineffectual manner its fundamental duty. Its great task from the practical standpoint was to agree upon some remunerative and equitable substitute for the present unremunerative and unjust tax on personal property; and in this task it has totally failed. It has failed, that is, to lend the weight of its authority to any one substitute for the time-honored but antiquated property tax. Part of the Commission favor an income tax and part favor a habitation tax. The Record and Guide is fully convinced as to the comparative desirability of these proposed substitutes. A State income tax could not be properly enforced and would tend to drive from New York City the rich men, whose residence constitutes one of the chief sources of its prosperity. On the other hand, the habitation tax would be easy and certain of collection; it would be equitable in its distribution, and it would be highly remunerative in its result. The chief objection to it would be the fact that it might encourage emigration to New Jersey; but we do not imagine that it would send very many families across the North River who would not have gone thither in any event. Unfortunately, however, the habitation tax is supported by only a minority of the Commission, and the Legislature is not likely to authorize such a radical and probably unpopular innovation unless it comes with more substantial backing. It looks very much as if the report of the Commission, like so many other similar documents, will be buried in the archives of the State, and that only some fragmentary legislation will result from it. The one man who could possibly resurrect it would be Governor Hughes, and it is very much to be hoped that in the course of time he will apply his vigorous and impartial intelligence to the solution of these problems of State and local taxation.

Evolution of the Real Estate Auction Business

By JOSEPH P. DAY

I HAVE been asked to speak to you this evening about Real Estate Auction Sales, and we will go right into the meat of it at once.* We will call the first heading, "The Evolution of the Real Estate Auction Business." This is no longer a side-line of a brokerage office, but it has come to be a specialty in itself. Some years back it was a case of different brokerage houses having an auction stand in the auction room, and, outside of a few sales from friends or acquaintances throughout the year, that was all it amounted to in most instances. Of course at all times there were several recognized leaders in the auction line. Now we will come to the second heading: "Auction Sales, How Obtained." That is a very hard thing to propound to you. There are different channels through which they may come. It is the personality of the man, his ability to make a successful sale, the recommendation of his friends and of the people he has successfully sold for and the recommendation by the people who have attended one of his sales.

Then there is the way of advertising for them. Of course, the success of this depends upon the ability of the man advertising, as an auctioneer. Now we come to the third heading, "The Method of Successfully Bringing the Property Before the Public." Right here, gentlemen, I wish to make a good pause, so that it can sink in deep, the value of one of the most potent methods of successfully bringing the property before the public's attention.

BRAIN IMPRESSIONS.

What does that mean? Recollect, if you are ever writing an advertisement, that it is not only the eyes that you want to appeal to, and have the people look at it and say, "Why, that sounds good!" and then throw the paper down and forget about it, but you have got to aim back deeper than that, and reach their mind, and reach it in such a way that it will stick. How to do this, that is the question, whether it is real estate you are selling or anything that you are trying to bring before the public. I am not talking on how to advertise to-night, only showing you the great importance of advertising in this particular line of auction sales. I will follow up the phrase, "Brain Impressions," with the word "concentration." There is no need to define this word to you. Concentration in what? In advertising—and the way we will map it out is this way: We will start the line, CONCENTRATION, right here. Then here we have concentration in newspaper advertising—and from that, concentration in booklet advertising, then concentration in small posters, concentration in medium-sized posters, concentration in billboards, 9x12 ft. posters, concentration in signs under the electric lights, concentration in street car advertising, etc, etc.

All of this enumerated by me is one grand series of brain impressions. Now, then, for instance: We've got a piece of property to sell. All right. What do we do? What methods do we use to get it before the public, and get it before the public in such a manner that they will be interested enough to investigate the property, and come down to buy it?

First, NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING: They, the public, open their paper. They read in the real estate advertisements that a certain sale is going to happen on a certain day. All right. That is your first brain impression. If they are especially interested in the real estate market, or if they own property anywhere in the vicinity of the property to be sold, when they get down to their office a few days later they get a small poster. In the meantime there has been more newspaper advertising about this real estate, or series of parcels of real estate. They open the poster; grant you, they throw it in the waste-basket. But the property has again been brought to their attention, and that is another brain impression. They go out for a walk on upper Broadway on Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning, it may be, and notice the billboards. They see there on a large billboard sign that this property in question is to be sold at auction on a certain day. They take their wives to the theatre and coming out of the theatre, say at 42d st and Broadway, under the electric lights they notice again that this particular property is for sale. They pick up their newspaper next day; again they read that this property is to be sold at auction. They take a Broadway car and, looking up at the advertising cards in the car, a notice of the same sale is before them.

And all this is a magnet, that is gradually drawing and drawing them to what? To go and look at the property. On the property when they reach it, as a rule, they will see a poster regarding the property, terms, etc. What will it do further? It will lead them to investigate regarding the property, to figure out if they have enough cash on hand to buy it, and all the advantages of buying it, etc. Then when we get them that far it is almost safe to say that we can count on them as possible purchasers.

*From a lecture before the Real Estate Class of the West Side Y. M. C. A., Manhattan.

Now the next thing is the auction stand. I have brought you quickly through the different points; up to now we have advertised the property. We have got it before the public. They have seen it out of the elevated cars, and they have seen it in the Broadway cars, they have read about it, they have heard about it, they have dreamt about it and now they are down in front of us. Now, you are up to the most important thing in an auction sale. It is something that no telling you here, or any books you could read could give you the A B C guide of—how to handle the crowd in front of you and how to successfully make them bid.

The young man reads the terms of sale. The different points are read distinctly and what is generally the seventh or the eighth clause contains the most important points for the public to know. The public, as a rule, have a synopsis in their booklets or posters, about the regular terms: 10% to be paid on deposit on day of the sale, etc., but what the buyer particularly wants to know, and know well, are the points in reference to the property such as mortgages, what per cent., when they are due, etc. The first and second mortgages are enumerated, if there are two mortgages; if it is sold subject to a state of facts which a careful survey would show—if you have the survey there you should produce it. And in my sales, I always have my young man read that over, and then I read it over again myself, so that it will reduce to a minimum the possible chances of the public being mistaken, or not understanding thoroughly the different points in reference to the piece of property. Now, then, we have got so far; we have offered the property for sale. All I can say is, referring back to the part of knowing that you are on the stand, that there are no tricks in this property you are selling, there are no come-backs, you have told them the truth so far as you know it or can find out, then, well—you are there to try and make a successful sale.

I will tell you a personal experience of mine when I was selling lots down at Belle Harbor last summer. Belle Harbor is situated on the Rockaway coast—it is a stretch of about, say, 2,000 ft. One side is the ocean, the other side Jamaica Bay. I had sold my ocean front lots and was now selling lots down toward the bay on Newport av. I found that my crowd was getting more and more lax, and I saw they would have to be brought up, or they would slip a little bit away from me. So after the bids started, and they did not go as fast as they should to suit me, I paused for a minute and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, you New Yorkers are overworked to-day, and what you want is relaxation. Not only bathing and ocean air, but there is one great thing that we all must have more or less of, and that is rhythm—and just think, besides having on your stationery the beautiful words printed, 'Newport av, Belle Harbor,' you can look out of your second-story window and watch the rhythm of the sail-boats on the bay." One fellow in the back piped up, "$10 more for the rhythm."

Of course, with these different points that I am telling you about, you have got to be keen enough to know when to use them and know when to drop them in order to make a successful auction sale.

LOT SALES.

Now we come to lot sales. There are two kinds of lot sales—the right kind and the wrong kind. The right kind of a lot sale is the kind of lots that are properly developed, that is, where the streets are made, whether they are asphalted or what we call macadamized, where the streets are properly curbed, sidewalks in, water and gas or electric lights are put in, ready for you to connect with when you build your house and sewers also put in, if it is practicable.

The wrong kind of lot sales at auction are the kind where tracts are suddenly opened up, a scraper run through, posts stuck in the ground to denote that this is such and such a street, no water pipes, gas, sewer, curbs, sidewalks, or anything else. And that kind of a sale, as a rule, has a brass band and a free lunch to get your stomach and senses feeling good, and then they hand you what we call a goldbrick, because anyone that buys at that kind of a sale buys as a rule for a rise, or maybe to build. Let us say that they buy for a rise. What is going to make the rise? It is the building of houses, buildings, alongside or near them. Well, if people have no facilities for getting water, no sewer system, or if on a rainy day they have got to walk in six inches of mud to get anywhere on account of no sidewalks, that is not going to attract them, no matter how poor they are. They would rather stay in their tenement quarters. And that answers the question of building. So every person, as a rule, that buys a lot in an undeveloped section like that which is not fortunate enough to have another section build up to and make improvements in the neighborhood and make a demand for his property—he is stuck. Furthermore, the people who buy these lots are often poor, and if assessments are made for improvements they let the lots go. And then I maintain that every lot you sell like that you are making an enemy of the purchaser.

The people that own these tracts must be more careful in trying to sell undeveloped lot property. I am going to carry you a little bit deeper now into auction matters. They loan 60% on bond and mortgage, say. Now, then, they have a fairly successful auction sale. They want the money to use in turning over another property. They go to the bank and offer as collateral and borrow on the property, say, 60%. The bank says: "All right. There is only a workingman on that bond of this mortgage. You endorse this." They endorse it. Now, these lot sales in this particular section may be overdone and the people that have bought may refuse to pay their next installment, or refuse to carry them. They are so poor that a deficiency judgment against them does not matter. What comes next?. The fellow that is on that 60% mortgage is forced to pay. He has very likely been speculating and is caught. And there we have the law of compensation, and it is the fellow that has not properly developed that is more apt to get stuck than the fellow who has gone through and made his improvements and given people a good value for their money.

Local Option in Taxation.

MR. A. C. PLEYDELL, for several years first assistant to Mr. Lawson Purdy, has been appointed to succeed him as secretary of the N. Y. Tax Reform Association. Mr. Bolton Hall, in the annual report of the association, issued this week, says:

"That the measures advocated by the association have made such remarkable progress has been due largely to the skill and energy of Mr. Lawson Purdy, for ten years our secretary. Mr. Purdy was appointed president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments of the City of New York, Nov. 9, 1906. The universal approval of this appointment indicates appreciation of our success in securing a more equitable administration of the assessments of real property. Mr. Purdy's previous selection as a member of the City Advisory Tax Commission and the State Special Tax Commission is a further recognition of the soundness of the theories of taxation of which he has been so prominent an exponent. He leaves the work in the able hands of Mr. Pleydell, for several years his first assistant.

"Despite these advances, however, the personal property tax still handicaps trade and enterprise, and bears harshly and unequally upon many citizens. It cannot be impartially enforced, and it is tolerated only because assessors are neither expected, nor desired, to enforce it. Editors denounce it as a farce and economists agree that it is an absurdity.

"To abolish the perjury, corruption, fraud and oppression which disgrace our cities, no steps are more important than to make it possible for citizens to make honest tax returns and to bear their fair share of public burdens without distress.

"Those communities that are wise enough to realize the gross injustice of attempting to tax all property at a uniform rate should have the privilege of modifying the system to suit their local needs. The Local Option Bill introduced by this association some years ago is a practical method for accomplishing this result, and, now that the direct State tax has been abolished, we see no reason why such a law should not be enacted."

PROPOSALS FOR LEGISLATION.

In regard to the Mortgage Recording Tax, the report states that the substitution of this recording tax for the annual tax law of 1905 is a decided improvement and a long step toward such total exemption of mortgages as is enjoyed in some neighboring States. "The new law is of great advantage, both to builders and to owners of real estate. But the holders of old mortgages, which are liable to assessment as personal property, are still subject to inequalities and injustices, amounting in some cases to confiscation of one-third of the income. Consequently, whenever possible such mortgages are being called. This is a hardship to borrowers, who have to pay the commissions for new mortgages and for title search.

"In the recording bill first passed there was a provision that by payment of the recording tax existing mortgages should be exempt from personal property taxation like a new mortgage. That bill was vetoed by the Governor, who in his message objected specifically, among other things, to the registration provision. It was thought best to take what relief we could get, and the bill which subsequently became law was drafted without providing for old mortgages. The hardships which we predicted would result from this omission have occurred, and we think we can secure an amendment by the next Legislature which will remedy this defect in the law. A section in regard to prior advance mortgages inserted in the second bill at the suggestion of the Governor has fully accomplished its intended purpose and should now be modified or repealed.

"The changes which we shall strive to obtain depend somewhat upon the recommendations that will be made by the State Special Tax Commission. We shall cooperate in securing the enactment of such recommendations as are consistent with the platform of this association, and shall cooperate similarly with the Mayor's Advisory Commission.

"We shall endeavor to have the Mortgage Recording Tax law amended as suggested in a preceding paragraph, to permit the registration of old mortgages, so as to avoid the hardships of the present law to some borrowers and lenders."

—The Mount Morris Bank, a favorite institution in Harlem, makes an excellent exhibit in its annual report. It has deposits aggregating $3,456,000, a surplus of $150,000,000 and undivided profits of $53,000. Capital, $250,000. L. M. Schwan is president and Lindley H. Hill cashier.

Rents of Tenements.

Robert W. de Forest, president of the Charity Organization Society, and formerly Commissioner in charge of the Tenement House Department, in his annual report issued this week, says the most striking phenomenon of the past year in the experience of charitable agencies in New York is the persistent increase in the rents of tenements. Notwithstanding the recent construction of an unprecedented number of tenements, it would seem that the insufficiency of means of travel and the large volume of immigration and inflow of population from other communities have been more than sufficient to counteract the increased accommodations. The cost of carfares, lunch and time spent in street car, ferry and railway travel gives a very considerable margin for the rise of rents in the crowded districts before the surplus population will move to the more remote boroughs and suburbs, and the social attractions in the crowded districts are sufficient to permit rents to mount still higher before those who feel their fascination are ready to relinquish them in favor of lower rents at a distance. President de Forest adds:

"The result is that notwithstanding the high rents which previously prevailed there has been a considerable increase in the rent of the smallest and cheapest tenements—in other words, to those families who were already finding the cost of bare shelter an almost impossible burden. The alleged cost of structural alterations to comply with the provisions of the existing Tenement House law is frequently made a pretext for the raising of rents, but that it is little more than a pretext is shown by the fact that it takes place equally in buildings which have, and in those which have not, complied with the requirements of the law, and in those in which no alterations are necessary.

"Among the remedies which have been suggested are the hastening of the building of subways and other transportation facilities, and restriction of immigration at the port of New York. It is quite possible that either or both of these measures might provide temporary relief, and in the present congestion of population, even temporary relief is most urgently to be desired.

"The real difficulty, however, lies deeper. It lies in the necessary relation between employment and residence. Many persons must live near their work, and congestion will continue and will increase until the places in which the working population are employed are more widely distributed. The next important commission, whether Federal, State, or municipal, might appropriately be appointed to inquire into the expediency and feasibility of limiting the location of factories in the crowded parts of the city. The establishment of fire limits furnishes an interesting analogy."

Escalators for the Belmont Tunnel.

The New York and Long Island Railway Company, known as the Belmont or old Steinway Tunnel System, has just awarded a contract to the Otis Elevator Company for the two largest escalators ever built to be installed in the Manhattan terminal of that system at 42d st, between Lexington and 3d avs. Trolley cars instead of trains are to be operated in this tunnel, and these running on short headway provide a tremendous capacity. It is estimated that the capacity will be at least equal to that of the trains of the present Brooklyn Bridge during rush hours, and the escalator equipment above referred to is equal in point of capacity to that of the entire stairway equipment of the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge. Furthermore, not only will the escalators be sufficient to handle any number of people up to the capacity of the trolley cars of the tunnel, but they will also serve to marshal the crowds into streams of people moving uninterruptedly and not coming into conflict with one another.

The escalators will provide service between levels something over 55 ft. apart and will be arranged side by side. Most of the time one will be operated ascending and the other descending, but during the morning rush hour both will be operated ascending. As an appropriation has already been made for a new Manhattan terminal to the Brooklyn Bridge, which is to be underground, it will be interesting to note whether this municipally owned enterprise will be as progressive as the privately owned one in the matter of installing moving stairways.

The escalators, in common with the whole terminal, possess no woodwork or other inflammable material. As is well known, the escalator is the invention of Mr. Charles D. Seeberger, who is now head of that department of the Otis Elevator Company.

Washington Heights Money Loosening Up.

Loans to the amount of $560,000 for operations in Washington Heights were made this week by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. To the Fluri Construction Co., $190,000, at the southeast corner of Broadway and 159th st, 125x99.11; also $190,000 at the northeast corner of Broadway and 158th st, 125x99.11; also to the Levy & Weinstein Realty and Construction Co., $90,000 on plot 75x99.11 in the north side of 141st st, 175 ft. west of Broadway, and $90,000 on a similar plot adjoining. All are at the rate of 6 per cent.

New Block on Fifth Avenue Invaded by Business--$2,500,000 Lease Just Closed.

Julian Benedict, of 1 West 34th st, has just closed one of the largest leases on the avenue, obtaining for the owner a new record price for leased ground. Mr. Benedict leased for Mr. Charles A. Gardiner, general counsel of the Interborough System, his home 581 5th av, in addition with the adjoining property, 583 5th av, purchased by Mr. Gardiner a short time ago from Mr. Fred. Roosevelt, a cousin of our President; combined properties, a little over 39 ft. by 100, were leased for a term of 84 years, from Feb. 1, 1907, at the yearly net rental of $30,000 per year. This is the highest rate ever obtained for property on the east side of 5th av above 42d st. A new modern 12-sty commercial, loft, office and studio building will be erected on the property, the plans of which are now being prepared by F. A. Minuth, the same architect who erected the Revillon Building for Dr. Henry P. Loomis, for sole use of Messrs. Revillon Freres, the International Fur House. Very novel ideas will be embodied in this new building, and it is the intent of the lessees to make it the model building of its kind. The property is in the centre of millionaire's row, being immediately adjoining the old residence of Jay Gould, adjoining to the north Mr. Haggin has his residence, and on the south corner of 48th st is the home of the Goelets.

The store and basement of the proposed new building will be specially fitted up for banking purposes, negotiations for which are now pending, and there are others also for the studio and some of the lofts. It is expected that building operations will begin no later than April 15, and will be ready about Jan. 1, 1908. The name of the lessees of the 5th av property just leased will be announced in a few days. The building will be known as the "Gardiner" building, No. 581 5th av, and will have a very massive granite and stone facade.

Guests of the John B. Rose Co.

Nearly six hundred men were at a luncheon given by Mr. John B. Rose, the brick manufacturer, at the Murray Hill Lyceum, on the 16th, this being the fourth annual occasion of the kind. At 2 o'clock this great company sat down to a sumptuous banquet, the rows of tables filling nearly all the space on the main floor, and then from half-past three to train time they were entertained by a vaudeville company. Among the guests were many representatives of the brick trade of Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx, Jersey City and Newark, besides most of the manufacturers of brick from up the Hudson. Added to these were many public men from the Hudson River towns and counties, particularly from Newburgh, where Mr. Rose resides. As each one entered a pretty young lady fastened a "Hot-Air Convention" button and a nosegay to his coat. Hurtig & Seamon's orchestra furnished music. Governor Odell, State R. R. Commissioner Dickey and President Clayton E. Sweet, of the Newburgh City Club, were present; in fact, most of those whose names will be found enumerated in the list made for this paper last year were again assembled as the guests of Mr. Rose. Words are inadequate to describe an occasion that will be ever memorable in the history of the Hudson River Brick trade.

Project for an East Side Park.

The great need of more breathing space in the crowded East Side district has led the Local Board of the Bowery district to a resolution recommending that the block bounded by East Houston, Orchard, Stanton and Allen sts, be taken for a public park. The assessed valuation, $794,000, is the lowest of nine blocks under consideration; the population, 1832, is small, and the conditions are unsanitary. Add to these reasons the fact that over 82,000 people are living within a radius of 1,000 ft., and the great need for a park can be seen.

The benefits derived from a public park in a tenement district where the working classes must find rest and recreation, cannot be overestimated. A resolution recommending the park proposition will be forwarded to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; it is hoped that the project will be speedily carried out, and this much-needed breathing space added.

Pressure for Two-Family Houses.

Arthur E. Wood, of 219 West 125th st, Manhattan, commenting on the condition of the real estate market, expressed his opinion as being that there would be an active spring, especially in the vicinity of Bedford Park, Bronx, where the demand for two-family houses far exceeds the supply, many builders selling from the plans, or during the course of construction. Mr. Bryan, of the firm of Williamson & Bryan, 2796 3d av, Bronx, said that the outlook was very good. Third av properties, in the vicinity of 138th st, had greatly increased in value. He quoted an instance where the rent of a 3-sty 2-family house with store in this proximity had been advanced from $1,000 to $3,600 per annum.

—The steel framework on the new Mills Hotel, now in the course of construction at northeast corner of 7th av and 36th st, is fast approaching completion, and judging by the progress mad in the laying of the brick and stone walls it will take but a short time to enclose the structure.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

To Erect New Home for Friendless Boys.

LEXINGTON AV.—Messrs. Parish & Schroeder, No. 5 West 31st st, have been commissioned to prepare plans for a new Home for Friendless Boys, to be erected at the southwest corner of Lexington av and 127th st, on a plot 65x100 ft. The Children's Aid Society, No. 105 East 22d st, is the owner. Estimates will be received and all contracts will be placed through the architects. The society has established and is now operating many similar institutions throughout the city, namely the Newsboys' Lodging House, 14 New Chambers st, Tompkins Square Lodging House, 295 East 8th st, West Side Lodging House, 225 West 35th st, 44th St. Lodging House, 247 East 44th st, Children's Home, 442 West 23d st, Emergency Shelter, 311 East 12th st, Av B School, 533 East 16th st, 53d St School, 552 West 53d st, Henrietta School, 224 West 63d st, Jones Memorial School, 407 West 73d st, Sullivan Street School, 219 Sullivan st, West Side School, 417 West 38th st, Sick Children's Mission 287 East Broadway, and the 6th St. School, 630 East 6th st.

Another Handsome Residence for Fifth Avenue.

5TH AV.—Fifth av is soon to be presented with another handsome residence. The site is at the northeast corner of 5th av and 92d st, immediately opposite the new residence of Mr. I. Townsend Burden and on the same block as the residence of Mr. Jacob Ruppert. The plot measures 100.8½x102.3 ft., and was purchased by the Hon. Perry Belmont in 1900 for the purpose of a residence for himself, but he recently resold the property. Plans for the new structure are now being designed by Architect C. P. H. Gilbert, of No. 1123 Broadway, and it is reported that William E. Corey, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, with an office in the Empire Building, Broadway and Rector st, will be the owner. Further particulars cannot be given for this issue, and no contracts have been awarded.

Plans for Percy Rockefeller's House.

The Record and Guide is informed that the new mansion, which William G. Rockefeller, of No. 26 Broadway, is to erect for his son, Percy Rockefeller, on his property at Greenwich, Conn., at an estimated cost of about $500,000, is to be personally designed and erected along the architectural ideas of Messrs. Hiss & Weeks of No. 111 5th av, Manhattan. A house built 75 years ago, immediately opposite this site, has been remodeled at a cost of about $100,000. The Reinforced Cement Construction Co., 1 Madison av, has the contract for concrete work. Thomas E. Ritch, Greenwich, Conn., the masonry, and H. W. Dederick, Greenwich, the carpentry. The structure will be 3 stories, 100x250 ft. in size.

Bloomingdale Brothers' Store Plans.

3D AV.—Messrs. Buchman & Fox, 11 East 59th st, are making preliminary plans for a large addition to the department store of Bloomingdale Brothers, 3d av and 59th st. Nothing definite, however, has yet been decided. They have purchased the property Nos. 156-158 East 60th st, 40x100 ft., and, with the exception of a small plot, they now control the entire block bounded by 3d and Lexington avs, 59th and 60th sts. It is the intention of the firm to cover the remaining portion of the block with a 10-sty addition, which measures 420x200 ft. Of course, no building contracts have been awarded.

Large Contract for Wells Bros. Co.

A general contract has been awarded to the Wells Bros. Co., No. 160 5th av, Manhattan, for the erection of a 12-sty fireproof steel frame office building at Montgomery, Ala., for the directors of the First National Bank, A. M. Baldwin, president, to cost about $350,000. Messrs. Carpenter, Blair & Gould, 475 5th av, Manhattan, are the architects.

Another Hotel and Restaurant for Broadway.

BROADWAY.—The Record and Guide is informed that another hotel and restaurant building is soon to be erected at Nos. 1504 to 1510 Broadway for Charles E. Rector, of No. 1508 Broadway. Architect Jarvis Hunt, No. 100 Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill., will prepare the plans. No further particulars can be given in this issue.

New Warehouse in the Bronx.

BUILDING NOTES

Mr. G. B. Coggeshall, secretary to the Mitchell-Vance Co., died suddenly on Tuesday, January 8.

Unions may impose fines on members who do not quit work when a strike is ordered is the purport of a new decision by a superior court in Massachusetts.

Charles Elliott Pell died on Thursday at his residence 341 East 50th st, in his 65th year. He was a member of the old established lumber firm of Dannat & Pell, 6 Broome st and Newtown Creek.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., which recently opened offices in the St. James Building, Broadway and 26th st, Manhattan, is getting things in "working" order under the direction of Mr. Henderson, the sales agent.

Building money still comes hard for all but selected sections of the city, and then a premium is asked. Mortgage money is steadily getting easier. In Manhattan last week 97 loans were made at 4½%, and in Brooklyn 409 at 5%.

It is said that the 8,300 tons of steel needed for the Blackwell's Island Bridge approach has finally been awarded, though officially no announcement has yet been made. Other important steel contracts about to be issued include the mercantile building at 5th av and 14th st, and the World Building addition.

THE ANNUAL NUMBER of the Record and Guide will be of the date of January 26, 1907. It will contain a number of contributions written by the foremost authorities in their respective departments of real estate, building and structural materials, and the interests allied to these. We shall be favored with papers from Messrs. Charles A. Peabody, Paul Morton, Clarence H. Kelsey, Edgar J. Levey, Richard M. Hurd, Lawson Purdy, Louis F. Haffen, Theodore Starrett, George S. Rice, George L. Slawson, J. S. de Selding, Supt. of Buildings Murphy, Commissioner Butler of the Tenement House Department, R. E. Simon, Remsen Johnson, Bryan L. Kennelly, Francis N. Howland, William K. Hammond, J. Sherlock Davis, A. L. A. Himmelwright, Rudolph P. Miller, William J. Fryer, Albert Moyer, Herbert D. Lounsbury, Nils Poulson, Henry R. Towne, John H. Shipway, J. E. Dutton, Charles Griffith Moses, F. E. Barnes, E. Tanenbaum, J. Clarence Davies, J. B. Speyers, Sheldon B. Shaw, H. A. Sherman, C. C. Bull, J. L. Buttenweiser, F. D. Ames, I. J. Pocher, and others. There will be pictures of the newest buildings, and reliable statistics, so that it will be worth while to read and preserve this number. Extra copies should be ordered in advance.

The terms of settlement of the trouble between the plasterers' unions are to form two locals with charters from the International Union. There will thus be three locals of the one International Union, which will recognize one another's cards. One of the many buildings held back by the trouble is the new Custom House.

In Manhattan plans for only 14 new buildings were filed during the first ten days of this year, as against 75 in the same time last year. But in the Bronx plans for 43 were filed, to compare with 24 in 1906. In Brooklyn also the number of projected buildings thus far this year exceeds the record for the same period in 1905.

Agitation for a limit on the height of buildings is being renewed. We expect a communication on the subject from a prominent firm of architects, and Robt. W. de Forest, in the annual report of the Charities Organization, makes important recommendations along this line, in order to avoid further congestion in the streets and on traffic lines.

Some lumber dealers say they have not been getting their money promptly from speculative builders since the money squeeze began, and dealers in masons' materials also did not find the year of 1906 one of unspeckled beauty. This calls attention to the fact that the risks in building trades are large and that the profits accruing are not proportionate to the hazard of the undertaking nor the knowledge requisite to carry the operation to a completion.

A contract has just been awarded to the John W. Ferguson Co., of Paterson, N. J., and New York, for a large plant to be built by the H. F. Taintor Manufacturing Co., 200 Water st. This plant, which will be built of brick and mill construction, is to be erected at Bayonne, N. J., and will include a main building 357x125; two storehouses, one 210x125 and the other 90x60, and a power house of about 200 horse power. The company is one of the largest manufacturers of whiting and Paris white in this country. Fred S. Hinds, architect and mechanical engineer, of Boston, designed the plant.

The Salagona Co., of 306 West 13th st, are experienced workers in marble, enamel and tile mosaics, and specimens of their excellent work may be seen in many of the larger hotels and apartment houses throughout the city. To those in the market for the above materials a letter to them will receive a prompt reply. They have at present under contract work on the following buildings: Alpha Delta Phi Club, 136-138 West 44th st, William L. Crow, contractor, Palmer & Hornbostle, architects; northeast corner of 6th av and 42d st, Chas. A. Cowen & Co., contractor, Maynicke & Franke, architects; Barnard College, 116th st, M. Reid & Co., contractor, Chas. A. Rich, architect; Oppenheim-Collins Co., 33-35 West 34th st, Charles A. Cowen & Co., contractors, Buchman & Fox, architects; "The Mayfair," 57th st and Park av, A. J. Robinson Co., contractor, Charles A. Rich, architect; Merchants' National Bank, Clarksberg, W. Va., Fullerton Co., engineers and contractors; Mills Hotel No. 3, Thomas J. Reilly & Co., contractors, Copeland & Dole, architects; United States Custom House, New York City, J. C. Robinson & Son, contractors, Cass Gilbert, architect; 10 East 62d st, Richard Deeves & Son, contractors, Hoppin, Koen & Huntington, architects, and 315 5th av, Charles A. Cowen & Co., contractors, Maynicke & Franke, architects.

—Considerable interest has recently been manifest in real estate circles regarding the identity of the purchaser of the plot, 30.2x120, at the southeast corner of 5th av and 75th st, recently sold by Otto H. Kahn. It is now understood that Miss Grace M. Rainey is the buyer. Miss Rainey is a sister of Roy A. and Paul J. Rainey. The adjoining property, also sold by Mr. Kahn, was purchased by C. E. Cady.

The Lime Trade of Greater New York.

LAST year was one of prosperity in the lime trade of the metropolitan district, with as large an outgo as in the previous year, notwithstanding that the amount of building was much less than in 1905. About two million bbls. were required for the trade, about one-half of which was furnished by the Rockland-Rockport Co. In regard to the lime trade, a very interesting and unusual correspondence has passed between the head of a large building corporation and Mr. O. F. Perry, of the Rockland-Rockport Co., which essentially took the form of a series of questions and answers concerning the consumption of quick lime in Greater New York. The building corporation, desiring certain data, framed a series of questions, to which Mr. Perry set down the answers, and the Record and Guide is privileged to reproduce them for the benefit of all building and property interests.

Q. How much quick lime is sold in bulk in Greater New York, per annum? A. There is no bulk lime retailed, or in other words, there is no bulk lime delivered to the jobs in Greater New York. The lime is practically all delivered in barrels.

Q. How much quick lime is sold in barrels in Greater New York per annum? A. For the years 1905 and 1906 said market consumed 2,000,000 barrels annually, or 4,000,000 barrels in two years, being one-fifteenth part of all the lime that is manufactured and sold in the United States for building purposes.

Q. What is the wholesale selling price per ton in bulk, carload lots, f. o. b. cars, New York? A. The lime is sent here in bulk by the various lime manufacturers, and is practically all re-barrelled here in second-hand barrels. The larger portion of these second-hand barrels, being barrels which were originally used by this company, and as our brands have been trademarked, we have recently got an injunction against the largest dealer, who has been using our barrels, and we are taking it up with some 20 others who are refilling our second-hand barrels, and, as above stated, this practice will be stopped eventually. The prices in bulk lime vary from $4.75 to $7.00 per ton.

Q. What is the wholesale selling price per barrel in carload lots, f. o. b. cars, New York? A. The price varies from 60c. to $1.85 per barrel, and the weights from 175 lbs. gross to 350 lbs. net to the barrel.

Q. Can it be ascertained from what States or places the lime consumed in Greater New York comes? A. The lime is shipped here from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey, New York State, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine.

Q. Is it possible to determine what percentage of lime consumed in Greater New York is transported from point of manufacture to New York by water? A. Fourteen-twentieths of the amount is transported by water.

Q. How does the consumption of quick lime in Greater New York vary as between winter and summer? A. There is very much more lime used in the working weather, say from March to November. However, they use a good deal of lime in Greater New York in the winter time.

Q. What is the annual consumption of hydrated lime in Greater New York? A. About 10,000 tons.

Q. What percentage of hydrated lime is packed in barrels? A. Ninety per cent (90%) of all the hydrated lime that is consumed in Greater New York is packed in burlap or cloth bags, 100 lbs. to the bag. The other ten (10%) per cent is equally divided between paper bags and barrels.

Q. What is the wholesale selling price of hydrated lime, including suitable packages, f. o. b. cars, car lots? A. From $10 to $15 per ton, including packages.

Q. What is the usual net weight of the package of hydrated lime? A. Burlap bags are practically all packed 100 lbs. to the bag. The barrels average 250 lbs. gross to the barrel and the paper bags about 60 lbs. to 80 lbs. to the package.

Q. Is it possible to ascertain from what States or places hydrated lime is shipped? A. Fourteen-twentieths of it is shipped from Maine, the balance from Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Q. Is hydrated lime sold by weight or by package? A. It is sold by weight.

Q. Is the total amount of lime used in Greater New York likely to increase or decrease during the next few years? A. We think it is likely to increase, as the trade is continually finding new uses for this lime. In other words, the building permits for 1906 were 18% less than those of 1905, yet the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co. increased their sales for 1906 over 1905 about 4 (4%) per cent.

Q. Is the use of quick lime likely to increase or decrease? A. It is likely to increase.

Q. If the use of hydrated lime increases, will it correspondingly reduce the consumption of quick lime? A. We think the quick lime will hold its own, if not increase faster than the hydrated.

Q. What are the names and addresses of the principal lime manufacturers supplying Greater New York? A. Rockland-Rockport Lime Co., Rockland, Me.; A. J. Bird & Co., Rockland, Me.; A. C. Gay & Co., Rockland, Me.; White & Case, Rockland, Me.; J. A. Creighton & Co., Thomaston, Me.; A. J. Bird, Thomaston, Me.; Washington Building Lime Co., Harpers Ferry, W. Va.; Charles Warner Co., Cedar Hollow, W. Y.; New England Lime Co., Connecticut and Massachusetts; Stockbridge Lime Co., Stockbridge, Mass.; Kelly Island Lime and Transportation Co., Kelly Island, O., and several others.

Q. What are the relative percentages marketed by each of the total lime sold? A. The answer to this question we would not attempt to estimate, only our company markets 12.20 of the total amount used in Greater New York.

Q. Is lime generally sold to the consuming trade in Greater New York by manufacturers through their own representatives, or is it sold through wholesale dealers, jobbers and building supply people? A. It is principally sold through the Building Material Dealers, but it is also sold direct to the large consumers.

Q. What are the names and addresses of the principal wholesalers, jobbers and building supply people in Greater New York dealing extensively in lime? A. There are some 30 odd dealers in Greater New York. The principal dealers are as follows: John Bell Co., 138th st and Hudson River, New York, N. Y.; John Bell Co., West Farms, New York, N. Y.; J. A. Philbrick & Bro., foot East 97th st, New York, N. Y.; T. C. Wood, 616 Greenwich st, New York, N. Y.; T. C. Wood, 137th st and Hudson River, New York, N. Q. Is lime sold in Greater New York for building purposes on any chemical analysis or guarantee? A. It is not, but it could be if required. Strange to say the weights are not even specified as to how many pounds to the barrel, except by this company and one or two others. This should be carefully looked into by all building contractors.

Q. If so, specify a typical analysis? A. Lime used in Greater New York varies from 97% to 98% practically pure carbonate of lime, free from magnesia, down to a lime from 55% to 58& pure carbonate and as high as 42% magnesia.

Q. Is a high percentage of calcium oxide desired in the lime consumed in Greater New York? A. Yes; it is much better in every particular.

Q. Specify in the order of their popularity the particular brands or trade names of lime sold in the New York market? A. Under the circumstances, answering all the questions as above, you will have to excuse us from answering this one. Rockland-Rockport Lime Co.'s product brings the highest price on the market.

—A deed of unusual interest was recently filed in the office of the County Clerk in the Borough of Richmond, being an instrument executed by William Ralph and wife, Abram Cole and wife, and Peter Winant and wife to Jacob Winant in 1819, 80 years ago. It conveys 53 acres in the east side of the road leading from the village of Richmond to Fresh Kills, for a consideration of $100. The deed had never been placed on record.

Apartment Construction Co. on the property 810 Broadway. It will be remembered that the property referred to was acquired by the Construction Co. about ten days ago.

In the vicinity of Boston road and 177th st the real estate outlook is reported to be satisfactory. The firm of George McCaffrey's Son notice more inquiries from buyers. The unfavorable weather has been a strong deterrent from business.

Some fine, well situated building lots, within eight minutes walk of the main station at Rutherford, N. J., on the main line of the Erie Railroad, are offered for sale. Address Ford H. Dow, care Record and Guide, 11-15 East 24th st, Manhattan.

Mr. David A. Clarkson, of Ogden & Clarkson, 69 Liberty st, Manhattan, referring to the activity on Madison av, believes that it will be some time before the noted residential blocks between 36th and 40th sts will be disturbed by the northward business movement.

Michael Cohen and Ernest Ruhe, of the firm of Michael Cohen & Co., St. James Bldg., Broadway, Manhattan, returned from Washington, D. C., yesterday, where they attended the Annual Convention and Banquet of the National Cut-Stone Contractors' Association, at New Willard Hotel.

Louis Victor Freund died Jan. 15 of pneumonia after a short illness, at the age of forty-two years. Mr. Freund was well known among real estate operators in this city, and until his death was actively engaged in business. The firm will continue under the old name of Victor Freund & Son at 760 3d av.

Pease & Elliman, No. 507 5th av, have opened a country department under the management of John F. Scott, which will not only offer facilities for securing country seats of the better class for the summer or year in any locality, but for the purchase, sale, rental or appraisal of estates and country property in general.

James S. Lehmaier, chairman of the executive committee of the Transit Reform Committee of One Hundred, in the Bronx, says he is much pleased with the Governor's attitude regarding legislation to relieve the present distressing as well as disgraceful conditions existing in transportation facilities in the City of New York.

Joseph P. Day, Joel S. De Selding, former president of the Board of Real Estate Brokers, and W. H. Britigan, educational director of the West Side Y. M. C. A., will be the speakers at the dinner at the Acmy Real Estate Club, to be held at Reisenweber's next Monday evening. They will discuss "Real Estate Organization."

Martin Walter, of 765-7 Tremont av, Bronx, refuting a recent newspaper report, wherein it was stated that there were many vacant stores on Tremont av, says that there are but three between 3d and Webster avs. Mr. Walter believes that any one purchasing on this street at a reasonable figure would find it a most profitable investment. Tremont av will be for the Bronx of the future what 125th st is for Manhattan to-day.

Mr. Sheldon B. Shaw, of Richard V. Harnett & Co., 73 Liberty st, Manhattan, said: "The proposed location for the new Court House on Union sq is entirely too far uptown and away from the main downtown business centre. The proper place for a building of this character is on the northerly side of Chambers st, between Broadway and Centre st." Speaking of the estimated cost of acquiring the Union sq site, Mr. Shaw is of the opinion that it would ultimately be found to exceed the figures quoted.

Notwithstanding the numerous apartment houses which have been erected in the vicinity of the Freeman st subway station, much vacant land can be seen on either side of the Southern Boulevard. When riding from there via 177th st, it is not uncommon to be shocked with an explosion, blow-out or trolley disaster of some kind before the car has gone very far. While this street is paved with granite, the intersecting streets still remain unpaved, although they are graded, curbed and the sidewalks flagged.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between Samuel Frothingham and John Constable Moore under the name of Frothingham & Moore has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Frothingham will continue in the real estate business, and will have his office at 546 5th av, with Messrs. Moore & Wyckoff. John Constable Moore, formerly of Frothingham & Moore, and Walter C. Wyckoff have formed a co-partnership under the firm name of Moore & Wyckoff, for the transaction of a general real estate and insurance business.

Mr. Palmer, of Palmer & Finneran, 263 West 34th st, Manhattan, said: "I can state without fear of contradiction that four thousand dollars per front foot is the established value for real estate in 34th st, between 7th and 8th avs." In speaking of the recent sales made along this thoroughfare Mr. Palmer mentioned the fact that the present owner of a parcel on the north side of the street was offered a profit of $3,000 on his purchase soon after the contract of sale was executed.

Samuel Goldsticker was the broker in the sale of 155 to 159 Henry st, recorded during the week. Emanuel Lehman, who died last week, had secured the property mentioned under contract and it was his purpose to turn over to the Crippled Children's Free East Side School the deeds to the land, including plans and a sufficient sum of money for its construction. The project has not, however, been abandoned, and will be taken up by his son, Philip. The site recently acquired by the school on Front st, near Montgomery st, will likely be sold at first opportunity.

The Index to Volume LXXVIII. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between July 1 and December 31, 1906, is now ready for delivery. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the offices of publication, 11-15 East 24th St., and 14 and 16 Vesey St.

Mr. Thos. S. Walker, of Hall J. How & Co., 171 Broadway, Manhattan, said: "While the site selected by the County Court House Commission may meet the hearty approval of those whose interests are centered in the vicinity of Union sq, I fail to see the advantage of the choice since its adoption means unnecessary isolation from the downtown section. There is plenty of available land within a stone's throw of City Hall Park upon which to erect so important a structure." Mr. Walker is further of the opinion that a site near Chambers st, just east of Park Row, would be an infinitely better location in point of convenience of access. "Besides," he continued, "it would have a beneficial influence on values in that locality."

Protest from Washington Heights.

At the meeting of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association, held on the 9th inst., the subject of the recent proposal to the Local Board of Public Improvements, Washington Heights district, to close 9th av for some distance south of the Harlem Ship Canal, and to close 218th, 219th and 220th sts, between Broadway and the Harlem River, came up for discussion. The proposal, it was stated, was made in the interests of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, which purchased, some time ago, the area bounded by the streets and avenue in question, and was evidently made with a view to affording the company further space for the erection of storage yards and workshops at the expense of the property owners, who have paid assessments for the opening and grading of the avenue. The general opinion prevailed that a lasting injury would be inflicted upon the district if this project was carried through, not only on account of the injurious character fastened upon this important locality by the establishment of such workshops and yards at this point, close to one of the most beautiful residential districts in the borough, but also on account of the injustice to other property owners in the locality, and to those taxpayers and property owners, whose assessments have paid for the improvements already created.

It was resolved that the association would send a delegation

The Awakening of Staten Island.

The frequency with which profits have been made in the purchase and subsequent sale of Staten Island real estate is deserving of special mention, more particularly since the activity has been confined chiefly to unimproved property, a large part of which is situated in somewhat remote sections of the island, and in many instances inaccessible except by the present steam road.

Prior to the opening of the Municipal Ferry between the Battery and St. George but little attention was given to land speculation in Richmond, and it was with difficulty that brokers could induce even small investors to examine vacant offerings in that field. But in the twinkling of an eye all this changed. Acreage which found no purchasers at from $200 to $500 per acre has since been sold for from two to four times that sum. A broker of prominence who has consummated the majority of transactions in vacant property on the island during the past two years cites a few sales in this territory which serve to illustrate the profits made possible as a result of the improved ferry service. He said:

"In the winter of 1906 I sold a farm near Oakwood for $5,800, reselling it in the spring for $17,500. About the same time my books show a sale of a farm near New Dorp for $11,000, which I resold two months later for $13,000, and again resold the parcel a short period later for $17,000, and it has since been sold by other brokers at $25,000, then at $37,000, and recently at $50,000. Not much over a year ago," he continued, "I sold a small three-acre tract at Brighton Heights for $500 per acre, reselling it recently for $2,000 per acre, yielding the owner a profit of $4,500.

"During the month of April, 1906, I sold a farm near Richmond for $18,500, and within three days after the contract was closed resold it for $25,000, netting a profit to the owner of $6,500. The buyer later refused a profit of $11,000 for his holding.

"During the same month the sale of a farm near Concord was consummated, involving the sum of $13,000; this was resold the following day at a profit of $1,000. Three months later this same farm was sold through my office for $25,000, showing an advance of $12,000 over the original figure. The following month a sale of a 20-acre tract of land near Grasmere was effected for $5,000. Within a month I resold it for $10,000, and it has again been sold for $20,000, yielding the new owner a profit of $10,000. During last summer I sold a 17-acre tract for $26,000, and in 90 days resold it for $35,000, giving the buyer a profit of $9,000."

Among the most recent sales on Staten Island was one of 200 acres at Whitlock on the rapid transit railroad fronting on New York Bay. This tract, it is said, sold at the rate of $1,000 per acre and was subsequently conveyed to a realty company, showing a profit exceeding $100,000. Adjoining this parcel another tract of 150 acres owned by David I. Tyson, of New Dorp, was sold for $800 per acre, but the purchaser resold the property to J. Edward Addicks, of Delaware, before title was taken, at an advance of $200 per acre, or a profit of $30,000. In the former instance it is stated that the realty company will erect no less than 800 houses on the property during the ensuing year.

The above quotations by no means represent the large volume of trading in vacant land which of late has been so distinctive a feature of the Staten Island realty market, nor has the activity been confined to any special location, but on the contrary, nearly every section of Richmond, from Tottenville to St. George and from the Kills to the Lower Bay, has figured in the records of conveyances. Never before in the history of the island have so many vital improvements been in course, and the progress already made has not only given inspiration to the residents of that borough alone, but has communicated itself to other and more distant parts of the greater city, which has resulted in a deserved recognition by financial and commercial institutions. The effect of the erecting of many large manufacturing plants, involving an expendtiure of more than $4,000,000, is to a great extent responsible for the immigration, and the new ferry arrangements help.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed considertion, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyence, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

January 11, 12, 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Annual Valuation of Real Estate.

The enormous value of New York City and the amount of money which is handled each year is shown somewhat in the statement made by the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments as to the total assessed valuation placed for this year on real and personal property. The new assessment rolls show increased values of real estate in the five boroughs amounting to $405,015,315, and enlarging by many millions the tentative assessment on personal property. The lift in property values is one of the largest in the history of the city, but less than that of last year. The total assessment of real estate is placed at $5,805,219,530. The largest relative increase is made by the Borough of Queens, which shows an increase of more than 35 per cent. in values. But the record-breaking increase for a specific tract of property is made by the Harway av section in Brooklyn.

While in many cases increases are greater because of new buildings, the Waldorf-Astoria again breaks the record for an increase without additions to the property. This year it is assessed at $12,150,000, against $10,700,000 in 1906. In 1905 it was assessed at $9,185,000. Across the street, McCreery's new store is raised from $2,070,000 last year to $3,535,000 this year.

Owing to the projected improvements by the New York and New Jersey Tunnel Co., to the south of Herald sq, where a large terminal building is projected in 6th av, between 31st and 32d sts, values on all surrounding property have been increased considerably. The Manhattan Theatre is a fair sample of general increases in this vicinity, being assessed this year at $470,000 against $360,000 a year ago.

Saks' store, immediately north, is assessed this year at $2,250,000, against $2,100,00 last year, while the Trainor property is raised to $188,000 from $163,000.

In lower Broadway there have been the usual sharp advances caused by the construction of new office buildings.

Among the older buildings the Equitable Life still holds ahead of the list with a total assessment this year of $11,700,000, against $11,500,000 a year ago. The Mutual Life is a close second with a total assessment of $10,225,000, against $9,775,000 in 1906.

The Singer Building, Broadway and Liberty st, which is making large additions, is raised from $2,715,000 last year to $4,375,000 this year. The Trinity Building, No. 111 Broadway, to which is being added an extension, is raised from $3,775,000 to $5,7000,000, and the United States Realty Company's building, which is really a twin of the Trinity, being erected on the site of the old Boreel Building, at No. 115 Broadway, is assessed at $3,500,000.
